SQUARE DEAL CURBS UNREST, HARDING SAYS

Would Beat Reds by Fairness.

The Tribune herewith presents, by courtesy of the Outlook, an article by Sherman Rogers, special industrial correspondent of the Outlook, in which he discusses Senator Harding's attitude toward labor and industry:

By SHERMAN ROGERS.

I went to Marion to see whether Senator Harding believed in the integrity and loyalty of the men with fanned hands and overalls. I wanted to know if he sincerely believed in labor's sense of justice, its loyalty, its ideals and desires.

Long before our interview was concluded I had not only formed the firm opinion that he was four square on all vital issues concerning labor and the farmer, but I realized that he possessed two qualities that would make him a great president; namely, a cool head and a warm heart.

Has Faith in Men.

Mr. Harding, with evident sincerity, opened our conversation by saying:

"I have faith in men; I believe that the average man is square; I believe in labor's fairness when treated squarely and given an opportunity to become familiar with facts pertaining to their vocation."

If employers would be more frank with their employees, they would soon find a different feeling existing in industry. Workingmen should be made thoroughly familiar with conditions, so that when an ultra-radical comes along, grossly misrepresenting conditions, the working man can intelligently refute his statements.

Not being familiar with the facts in the case, thousands of honest, well-meaning men become imbued with the idea that they are being viciously oppressed; misunderstandings result, causing trouble that could be avoided by a simple exposition of the truth.

Mistakes Foster Radicalism.

The doctrines of extreme radicalism are founded on gross misrepresentations and surely the best way to meet misstatements is to contrast them with the truth. Foreign-born workmen have been held up to public censure when the public itself—in a great many cases is to blame for not having extended the helping hand of friendship to the men who had invited them to our shores.

"I firmly believe that if our government and those interested in our government had taken as much pains to familiarize the incoming foreigner with American ideals and the liberties that the constitution bestows as the radicals have taken to misrepresent and misinterpret our constitution there would be far less trouble in this country," he said.

"Quite true, the foreigner coming here with the intention of stirring up violent opposition to our form of government should be severely dealt with; but I am convinced that a vast majority of immigrants come here with the intent of becoming industrious and patriotic American citizens."

"The loyal support given by the sons of foreign born in the recent war should be sufficient evidence to convince the most skeptical that this conclusion is true."

Wants Clear Understanding.

Senator Harding contended that more light should be thrown on the responsibilities that labor owes to management, that management owes to labor, that management and labor owe to capital, and that management, labor, and capital owe to the public.

Mr. Harding manifested deep concern over the railway and coal situation, and spoke at length on the present critical condition of our great distributive system, presently remarking:

"The present chaotic state of rail- way transportation should convince the most radical labor leader that return to the old management should be gauged that necessary capital may be enlisted for purposes of ade- quate reconstruction and the paying of wage increases."

Good Pay and Efficiency.

"It also should prove to the most narrow minded industrial captain that labor must receive an adequate wage to function properly and guarantee continuity of service. A breakdown of the transportation system plays just as much havoc with capital and management as it does with labor and the public."

"The public are the ones that feel its effect most, and labor is the chief sufferer in the long run."

"Without adequate transportation

ARMY BUTTON IS CLEW TO SLAYER OF MOVIE MAN

Wealthy Kenosha Hid Name of Murderer.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A few threads of worsted suiting clinging to an army discharge button are the only clews which the police have been able to obtain during their forty-eight hours' investigation of the mysterious slaying of Charles Pacini, a wealthy moving picture proprietor.

Pacini was shot late Saturday night during a revolver duel with an unidentified assailant and died early this morning in a Kenosha hospital. His assailant was known to him, but he refused to reveal the name to the police.

Several theories are being checked up by Chief of Police Owen O'Hare, including a woman angle and a revenge motive, but he said last night that the button and piece of cloth, evidently ripped from the slayer's coat lapel during the struggle, gives strength to the theory that Pacini was the victim of an escaped lunatic—a discharged soldier now believed to be in hiding in this city.

Trace Pacini's Movements.

One of the Kenosha papers late Saturday afternoon printed a dispatch from Massillon, O., telling of the escape from an asylum there of a discharged soldier named Landron. The Red Cross authorities in Massillon stated that Landron possessed a maniacal desire to slay all prominent citizens because of fancied wrongs done his mother. The Massillon authorities expressed the opinion that Landron had come to Kenosha and was in hiding here.

As near as the police have been able to check up on Pacini's movements, Saturday night, he closed his three theaters at 11 o'clock, and, as was his custom, took one of his cashiers, Mrs. Alice Davenport, and a ticket taker, Mrs. Agnes O'Brien, to their homes. Then he drove to a public garage to put his car up.

Fought Due to Slayer.

He reached the garage at 11:30. It evidently was deserted at the time. He drove into the alley at the rear and there the battle with his slayer occurred.

Pacini's revolver, a small calibre weapon, showed that the theater man had fired four shots. It is not known how many shots his assailant fired, but one bullet, a .38, struck his belt buckle, was mashed and then penetrated his abdomen, inflicting such a jagged wound the authorities at first believed a dum-dum bullet had been.

Pacini evidently put up a desperate hand-to-hand struggle with his antagonist before he was wounded. Then he staggered four blocks to the main street of the city before he collapsed. He was rushed to a hospital where the police attempted to question him.

"I know who shot me," he said, "but don't bother me now. I'll take care of him myself."

Women Not Questioned.

The army button was picked up near the scene of the shooting. The only other clew upon which the police have been working—and that is only supposition—is the name of a business rival known to have threatened Pacini several years ago. The name was given the police by the theater man's attorney, Calvin Stewart. They refuse to disclose it.

For neither Mrs. Davenport nor Mrs. O'Brien, both of whom are separated from their husbands, has been questioned. The police think, however, that a jealous admirer of one of them may have held a grudge against the slain man.

Pacini came here as an immigrant boy. At the time of his death he owned three large theaters here and others in Harvard, Ill., and several other towns, as well as a large amount of real estate and several fruit stores. He was said to be worth $300,000.

In Engineering Department.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 16.—Robert D. Frary, member of the University of Wisconsin faculty, and his wife, were drowned while swimming in the Wisconsin river near the upper Dells yesterday. The bodies have not been recovered. The drowning leaves a 2-year-old daughter, the only child, an orphan.

Will Increase Business.

John M. Hubbard, general superintendent in the money order department, said the change would cause an enormous increase in the volume of foreign money orders.

"Before the war," said Mr. Hubbard, "we did an annual business of more than $2,500,000 in international money orders. During the last year business fell to $900,000. Heretofore exchange rates have been arranged at conventions attended by representatives of all countries to which we sold money orders. The government, in this case, has arranged the new scale at Washington."

Swiss Rates Unchanged.

Switzerland is the only country where the exchange rates have not changed. Our dollar is worth just the same today as it was before the war. Under the present rates an American dollar is worth:

$1 equals 16.30 francs in France, Belgium, and Italy.

$1 equals 5.15 francs in Switzerland.

$1 equals 5 kroner in Denmark and Norway.

$1 equals 2.63 florins in Austria.

$1 equals 5 shillings in England.

ness is done with Russia, Poland or Germany.

SUSPECT GIVEN TRIAL IN COURT AFTER PLEADING

Appeals to Crowd as Noose Waits.

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 16.—Common sense and spirit of fair play tonight saved the life of David McNeal, who had been committed for trial during the afternoon at the town hall at Thorold on a charge of having murdered a 4-year-old Margaret Boucock on July 3 last.

The mob which clamored for possession of the prisoner numbered several thousand persons, who set fire to the town jail after the prisoner and police officers had been smoked out of the town hall, which the mob had set on fire.

When darkness had set in the crowd, which had grown to large proportions, began to storm the town hall with bricks and stones. Before long every window in the newly built building had been shattered and then the mob attacked the doors. McNeal and the police officers saved their lives by crouching in corners and holding chairs in front of them as volleys of rocks swept the building.

Brings Flames Into Play.

Several shots were fired from the upper windows to frighten the crowd, but it did not hinder them. The flames were thrown through the shattered windows and a couple of men rushed a bundle of hay saturated with gasoline into the ground floor. Flames burst out and eventually the smoke and fire drove the men who had been besieged since early afternoon down the stairs and out.

"We surrendered," yelled McNeal as he came down the stairs with Chief Frank Collier of Thorold hanging to his steel wristlet. A Buffalo newspaper man was ahead of McNeal and the crowd seized him and were rushing him off when he showed his badge and they let him go.

Ropes Are Made Ready.

McNeal was seized and taken in an automobile in front of the town hall. A rope on the town flag pole was run up another pole and preparations were made to hang him. He screamed for mercy while the mob howled.

"Give him a chance," called some one and that met with popular approval.

"Men, if you are men, give me a chance to make a statement," McNeal said. "It may be my last words on earth."

Pleads for Half an Hour.

McNeal and the crowd later moved to the public library steps, due to the excessive heat caused by the burning of the town hall.

McNeal spoke for half an hour before a hushed crowd. He swore he had not killed Margaret Boucock. "Only a degenerate could do such a thing," he said.

From one section of the great audience came insistent appeals. "Give the man a chance; hand him over to the police."

When McNeal ceased speaking there was no further talk of lynching. The heat was almost jovial. No one touched McNeal as the police chief and his men helped the prisoner to an automobile, and he was rushed off to Welland.

Hunt for Another Child.

McNeal was accused of causing the death of Margaret Boucock. Searching parties are hunting through all the nearby woods for Kathleen Beecham, 6 years old, who disappeared with the Boucock child.

Toledo Cleans House.

Toledo, O., Aug. 16.—With assistance received from outside contracting firms Toledo streets were being cleared tonight of debris and wood blocks washed up by the cloudburst that struck the city early this morning. Damage of approximately half a million dollars is believed to have been suffered by the city's business interests.

Will Increase Business.

John M. Hubbard, general superintendent in the money order department, said the change would cause an enormous increase in the volume of foreign money orders.

"Before the war," said Mr. Hubbard, bishop to visit Ireland.

Caddie Dies from Blow of Hard Driven Golf Ball

Quincy, Mass., Aug. 16.—Earl H. Bellows, a 16-year-old caddie, died at the Quincy hospital from injuries received five days ago when he was hit on the head by a golf ball. Death was due to a brain hemorrhage, it was said.

Tennessee to End Suffrage Crisis Today

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—The committee of the lower house of the Tennessee legislature in charge of the woman suffrage ratification resolution late tonight voted 10 to 8 to ratify the measure tomorrow with a recommendation that it be adopted. A vote during the day was said by the leaders to be certain. The senate ratified the suffrage amendment Friday.

City Doomed, Says Waygand.

The struggle is increasing in violence as the Bolsheviks are tightening their grip on the Polish capital. French shells, fired by German gunlayers from guns captured from the French, already are dropping on Praga and other suburbs of Warsaw.

Practically all of Warsaw's 300,000 people have fled, only a few remaining.

Gen. Waygand is reported to have telephoned Gen. Foch that the city is doomed and that the position of the whole Polish army is precarious, owing to Pilsudski's rejection of the French plans to evacuate everything east of the Vistula and retire behind the river, leaving Warsaw to be occupied without a struggle.

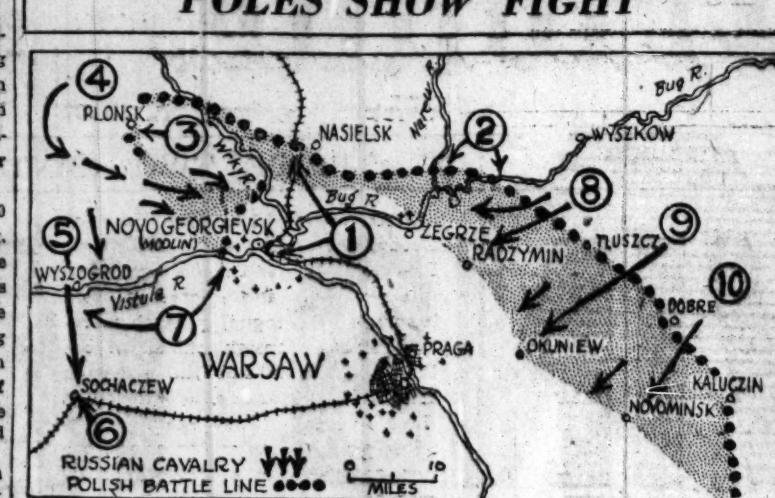

Gen. Waygand showed the Polish staff a map outlined by Foch personally, showing that their sole hope lay in seeking the protection behind the Vistula instead of fighting with the broad river at their backs.

Germand Want Corridor.

French secret agents in East Prussia state that the Bolsheviks intend to capture the Danzig corridor and return it to Germany, regardless of the treaty of Versailles, when a Polish-Russian peace is signed.

RUSS IN WIDE CIRCLE

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright 1920, By The Tribune Company.]

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—From many sources, including telegraphic communications from the East Prussian border, come confirmations of reports received here of the Russian plan of attack.

The Russian cavalry, which won most of its initial battles, has been deploying the last two days in hundred mile circles and has suddenly appeared to the west of Warsaw. The military opinion here is that, instead of attacking the fortifications, the Russians intend a far distant encircling movement, then a tight drawing of their forces together.

Sixty Mile Dash.

The reported capture of Plock, north west of Warsaw, yesterday was at first thought to be a mistake in telegraphic transmission because it would put the Russians sixty miles southwestward from their line of the previous day.

Today's report, however, shows the Russians have overaken a vast district. They are now attacking Wadowiec and Plock, as well as pushing into the Danzig corridor, occupying Siedlce, Lautenburg, and Strasburg, and advancing upon Lobau, from whence the Polish troops are retreating northwards.

Some German military experts foresee a remarkable cavalry movement from the Plock-Posen line northward to Lodz and Rawa, where the Poles have neither defenses nor troops, while another Russian deployment would start from the Siedlce-Kaluzyn line southwards against Ivangorod and Riga, but, inasmuch as the Polish troops along the line from Warsaw to Posen, formerly a German city, are moving too slowly for the Russian plans, the entire enveloping movement must come from the west of Warsaw.

The latest Russian surprise leads to the belief that Warsaw can hold out for weeks, and will not be taken during the period of the Minsk peace conference.

REDS TO AVOID ATTACK?

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

WARSAW, Aug. 16.—The effectiveness of any possible revival of Polish resistance in defense of Warsaw will depend to a large extent upon the ability of the Poles to employ guns in the old fortified positions surrounding the city, especially on the north side.

In 1914 Warsaw's three northern arteries—Danzig, Zegrze, and Bełżecino—were armed with approximately five hundred cannon. The defenses of Warsaw itself possessed about 1,000 cannon and the fortresses of Modlin and Novogeorgievsk had a similar number. Almost all these guns long since have been removed and many of them are obsolete.

A feeling is growing that the Reds will start frontal attacks north of Warsaw, if the Poles develop resistance along that frontier. It is believed that the Reds will seek to encircle the city from the west and also will cross the Vistula river south and

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

BERLIN—Berlin delighted by break between Paris and London over Russia.

CONSTANTINOPLE—South Russia units behind Wrangel as result of his recognition.

BERLIN—Russians, fearful of storming Warsaw by direct assault, sweep across country in wide encircling movement.

LONDON—Excepting for partition and coercion of Ulster, Lloyd George says the government is willing to hear proposals by the Irish.

LONDON—Brig. Gen. Sherrill, American diplomat, says Anglo-Jap treaty will not be renewed in present form, owing to opposition of Canada and Australia.

WARSAW.—What appears to be a first skirmish came when Captain Billing, a Liberal with Labor leanings, asked if the government's intention had been drawn to the formation of an unconstitutional body for the purpose of coercing the government by means of strike. After the prime minister had replied, Mr. Billing, asked if the prime minister would promise never to receive a deputation from the illegal body.

"I'll always receive deputations from any responsible body of citizens to discuss subjects of public interest."

Wants Full Recognition.

Mr. Lloyd George urged the immediate recognition of the soviet government of Russia, "which is in existence and with which you are dealing now."

Mr. Clynes asserted that Labor in setting up a council of action to prevent war meant only to strengthen the hands of the government and that workers must not forfeit the right to strike if by legal use of that weapon war can be prevented.

FATHER YIELDS HIS LIFE TO SEE NEW BABY SON

Hero of Vera Cruz, Deaf, Killed by Train.

Charles Conover, powdered with the dust of roads and weary with searching for work, heard of the birth of his son, smiled, turned his face toward home—and so met his death.

Conover was 26 years old, strong, keen, and intelligent, and willing to work. But work was to him only a will o' the wisp, for he was deaf and the only trade he knew was wireless telegraphy.

(Fox Photo.) Conover was the "Sparks" on the Tennessee when the first-shelled Vera Cruz half a dozen years ago.

Wounded at Vera Cruz.

He was wounded in action and later was injured while on duty—and lost his sense of hearing. A wireless telegrapher who couldn't hear was of no use to the navy, so he was discharged.

He married the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Forbes and lived with her in her parents' flat at 118 Indiana avenue. He tried to find work. But only odd jobs that paid him little came his way.

The injuries received at Vera Cruz needed him a sum of $10 a week. He gave it to his wife and went to the harvest fields, to far places where men were needed, deaf or not.

Conover's daughter Helen was born two years ago. And William came back.

Needs Death Under Traint.

Letters went on to California from the mother and the grandmother, telling him of the new baby; but it was only a week ago they were received. Then Conover wrote a postal saying he was coming home at once.

The answer was found in his coat pocket by the crew of a freight train near Los Angeles. Conover had fallen between cars and had been crushed to death.

The body is at Los Angeles. Mrs. Conover has no money to bring it to Chicago for burial, nor even enough to give it decent burial in California. And because of the new baby she cannot go to work to get money.

May Even Lose Pension.

Moreover, the weekly $10 from the navy has not been received in three months and the widow believes it may stop altogether, now that the pensioner is dead.

The only treasure left to her and Helen and the new baby is a small amount of savings given to be stowed upon the husband and father "for valor at Vera Cruz."

SAYS ANGLO-JAP TREATY IS DEAD IN PRESENT FORM

BY JOHN STEELE,

Chicago Tribune Foreign Service. [Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Brig. Gen. Charles Sherrill, a leading New York Republican and former minister to Argentina, who is in England, after spending ten months in Japan, is convinced that the Anglo-Japanese treaty will not be renewed in its present form.

Opposition of Canada and Australia, which are the most influential units in the empire, as a result of the great war, is given by Gen. Sherrill as the main reason for his statement.

Gen. Sherrill declared that the Australian and Canadian view coincides with that of the United States Pacific coast states and said, basing the statement on conversations with Japanese statesmen, that the true solution seems to be in a triangular agreement, or at least in an entente, between Great Britain, America and Japan for the control of the Pacific.

There is a powerful school of opinion here urging that the War Indies be offered America as settlement for war debt. The suggestion at first raised a storm of opposition, but now it is gaining ground and if Canada's opposition could be overcome there would be nothing in its way.

U. S. WARSHIPS SENT TO DANZIG, MEDITERRANEAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—What may be the first step of the United States in carrying out its announced policy of aiding Poland by "all available means" if the independence of that country is threatened by the Russian bolsheviks was taken today when Secretary of the Navy Daniels ordered the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and two destroyers to proceed from Cherbourg, France, to Danzig, the free port of Poland.

Announcement also was made that the four St. Louis and six destroyers had been ordered to augment the United States naval force in the Mediterranean.

Secretary Daniels said the warships were sent to the Baltic merely as a precautionary measure and to protect American citizens and their interests. No specific incident had been responsible for the orders to these ships he said.

Government officials charged with studying the means that the United States might employ in assisting Poland without seeking additional authority from Congress had concluded that the government would not be compelled in furnishing credits or supplies to the Polish national authorities.

More than two hundred representatives of the Polish Americans from all sections of the United States will meet in Washington Wednesday for the purpose of presenting resolutions regarding possible assistance for Poland to President Wilson and Secretary of State Colby.

G.O.P., IF IT WINS, TO 'DISH' WILSON FOREIGN POLICY

General Responsibility for World to End.

BY PHILIP KINSLY.

MILTON, O., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A complete reversal of the Wilson foreign policy may be expected if Senator Harding is elected. He said today that he thought the Republican party would expect sweeping changes. His mail is filled with pleas from people who want him to speak out for Poland or Ireland or some other country. He is beset for interviews on these subjects.

"I am becoming more and more conscious," he said today, "of the impracticability of running the other half of the world from this half. I can say that there will be little of the present foreign policy if the Republican party succeeds. There will be a complete reversal."

This does not mean, however, that we do not stand ready to go to the aid of our friends abroad. We are interested in peace, of course, because the reduction of war touches us too, but we should not go into the affairs of Europe in a way that will make us responsible for anything but our own affairs."

Senator Harding is running his own campaign when it comes to big decisions. He will hold a conference here tomorrow with Nathanial Chaimson, Harry S. New, head of the speakers' bureau; Albert Lasker, publicity expert; Henry C. Wallace, who has been put in charge of the agricultural part of the campaign, and possibly Senator McCormick and Harry Daugherty.

The object is to make up a schedule of the senator's part in the campaign until Oct. 1 at least.

COP WHO BLOCKS COX CALLED FOX TO STIR VOX POPS

Governor's Friends Lay
His Arrest to G. O. P.

BY ROBERT B. SMITH.

Columbus, O., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—There was much ado today over the efforts of Marshal Joe Shipley of Jackson, Tenn., to pinch Gov. Cox for speeding. The incident took on national significance and became the subject of numerous statements, charges of "frameup," counter charges, and many other forms of political snarling.

George H. Clark, chairman of the Republican state advisory committee, stepped forward with a statement that the Republicans were not responsible for any efforts to arrest Gov. Cox.

Says He Violated Law.

"Things have come to a pretty pass," he indignantly added, "when a nominee, who professes to be running on a law enforcement platform, violated the law and then refused to prosecute the man an officer who is trying to enforce it."

Gov. Cox remained silent on the subject, but his friend Roy C. Leyton, adjutant general of Ohio, issued a long typewritten statement denying that the governor was speeding and charging that the Jackson town authorities were merely seeking some cheap notoriety.

FAIL TO FIND ERROR IN U.S. COUNT OF NEW YORK CITIZENS

New York, Aug. 16.—The city census committee appointed by Mayor Hyland to investigate the accuracy of the 1920 federal count in a preliminary report issued today upheld the figures placing the population of the city at 5,621,161 on Jan. 1, 1920.

It confirmed also the decrease in population in the borough of Manhattan in the last decade, although the report said this decrease may have been slightly less than the federal bureau announced.

Census Bureau Figures.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Population figures issued by the bureau of census today included:

Pop. Inc. Pet.

De Kalb, Ill..... 7,571 *251 *25

Lawrenceville, Ill..... 4,950 1,945 51.9

Their reports cheered the governor. They were especially optimistic regarding Cox's chances of carrying the big industrial centers like Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, and Dayton.

The governor will address the convention tomorrow. Secretary Baker and Senator Farnum, Ohio, are also scheduled to speak.

TARDOMASTER CRUSHED TO DEATH.

John M. Michel, 31, a 51-year-old Fifty-seventh street yardmaster of the Chicago Junction Railway company in the yards at Forty-seventh street and Racine avenue, was crushed to death yesterday when he was crushed between two cars in the yards.

Gov. Cox remained silent on the subject, but his friend Roy C. Leyton, adjutant general of Ohio, issued a long typewritten statement denying that the governor was speeding and charging that the Jackson town authorities were merely seeking some cheap notoriety.

WHEN the brakes take hold on a slippery day what feature of design is the surest guarantee against a skid? A chassis of the proper height.

When the holes are many, the ruts deep, and the road shocks severe what feature of design does most to minimize the jar to human nerves? A chassis of the proper height.

When the coach builder undertakes to design a body for the utmost passenger comfort what foundation does he need above all others? A chassis of the proper height.

When charming lines are an additional object what factor is absolutely indispensable for the proper display of his art? A chassis of the proper height.

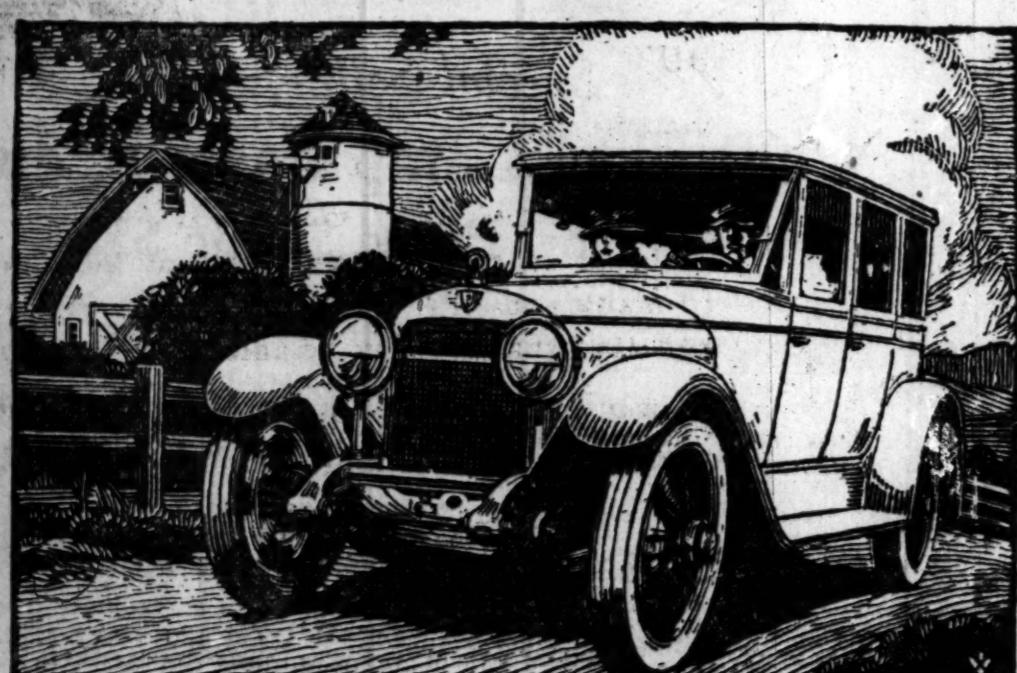

A chassis of the proper height for these purposes will always be a chassis with a low centre of gravity, which, strange to say, is a consideration only rarely valued at full weight in designing cars of the Mercer class.

But in Mercer it receives full recognition.

The Mercer centre of gravity is low. Watch the Mercer hug a rough road surface. Watch its action when the streets are wet. Study its lines, test its seating comfort.

Bearing as it does the Hare's Motors stamp of high approval, Mercer is designed and built with close attention to every point of fundamental excellence.

TAMMANY TAX PLANS PERIL CITY, GALPIN WARNS

Higher Rate than Ever Dreamed Of Predicted.

A higher tax rate than Chicago ever dreamed of is certain to come if voters do not awaken to the dangers of extending Tammany control to the county and state.

This is the conclusion reached by Hiram K. Galpin, chairman of the Republican county committee in charge of the fight against the Thompson-Lundin slate, in a statement issued last night.

"The Tammany lieutenants already are preparing the public mind for another big boos in taxes," Mr. Galpin states. "By giving out the tax rate of New York and other metropolitan cities and arguing the ridiculous stand that nothing has been done in taxes because its rate is now lower than the tax rates of the cities cited. Tammany believes this is justification enough for increasing taxes.

Denies Rate Is Lower.

"But it is actually as low as Tammany statistics would have one believe? Not to any one who understands the variations of Chicago's tax levying system. We have in Chicago so many tax levying institutions, many of which Tammany overlooked, included in its statistics before a fair comparison could be made with the rates of New York and other cities.

The public, now receiving tax bills which are almost double in amount the taxes paid last year, should not be surprised. They were personally appealed before the last general assembly and argued for hours for a new law that would increase the revenues of the city hall. The law which raised your tax was then passed.

Warns Against Same Tactics.

"Mayor Thompson will do this again if the public be forgetful and if he is not administered a reprimand which will be understood as a determined challenge from the people against his rating extravagances."

NO PICTURE OF MAYOR ON NEW BOOSTER BOARDS

The first of the 150 "boost Chicago" signs which are to line the routes of railroads entering Chicago, that travelers may be told of Chicago's greatness, is complete. Mayor Thompson put his official O. K. on it yesterday.

The sign differs from the "boost Chicago" signs put up heretofore in that neither the mayor's picture nor his signature is shown.

It was explained that the advertising council and directors of the Boosters' Publicity club, which approved the design, "found that the mayor's name is not essential to the spreading of Chicago's message."

Floating Stones' on Lake Just Steel Mill Slag

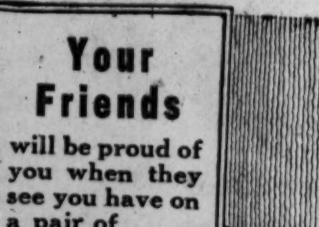

These queer looking rocks and pebbles found along the shores—these "floating stones"—are merely bits of slag composed of calcium silicate and calcium phosphate, according to Health Commissioners Robertson. The "rock" is formed by the adding of limestone to ore in South Chicago's steel mills. It is full of air chambers. Hence it floats.

COMBAT UNREST WITH FAIR DEAL, HARDING SAYS

Industry must necessarily contract to avoid a period of stagnation; farmers would be unable properly to move their produce, and as a result widespread unemployment and ruin of the entire economic fabric of the country would be inevitable.

The present crisis simply proves that autocratic injustice to capital and management as detrimental to the wage earner as autocratic injustice to labor is detrimental to capital and management.

"We have entered a new era in the relationship between management, the worker, and the public.

"Too much has been said about bolshevism in America. It is quite true that there are enemies of the government within our borders. However, both their number and their gravity have been greatly magnified.

"The American workman is not a bolshevik; neither is the American employer an autocrat. Both, as a rule, desire mutual understanding by establishment of a point of contact that will prove to the worker that the YANK-TEUTON 50-50 SHIP DEAL APPROVED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—The shipping board approves operation of American ships on former German trade routes to all parts of the world, under agreements between the American Ship and Commerce corporation of New York and the Hamburg-American line of Germany.

The agreement is for twenty years. It provides that freight services between Germany and countries other than the United States are to be taken up independently, the Hamburg-American line to propose each service which the American Ship and Commerce corporation may accept or not, as it chooses.

If one American concern chooses to enter a given service, each party may put in one-half of the tonnage required. The American Ship and Commerce corporation may suggest that any service be proposed if the proposition is not made by the Hamburg-American line.

The shipping board announced today that of the first more than 1,200 steel vessels, approximating 5,000,000 dead-weight tons, the minimum bid must be $150 a deadweight ton for coal burners and $170 a deadweight ton for oil burners built on the great lakes, to $175 for coal burners and $185 for oil burning vessels of over 10,000 dead-weight tons.

Deferred payment, ten per cent on delivery is provided.

SUFFRAGE SURE, VIEW OF CHIEFS OF BIG PARTIES

Success at Nashville to Bring Many Changes.

Republican and Democratic national campaign managers sat back in Chicago last night awaiting latest returns from the Tennessee legislature on ratification of the suffrage amendment. In both big party camps the prevalent belief was that woman suffrage for the approaching primaries and election is to be an accomplished fact before nightfall.

Republican headquarters at the Auditorium seemed the most optimistic. Democratic managers here to open the western headquarters, were unanimous in the forecast that the Democratic majority in the Tennessee house will vote for ratification.

The Democratic national campaign in the west is to be fought from the eighth floor of the Conventioners' sumbers building at State and Quincy streets. National Committee Chairman Ernest Hoover, and Dennis J. Egan, representing the Cook county organization, closed the negotiations yesterday after consultation with Wilbur W. Marsh, treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Chairman Hoover opens Illinois state headquarters today in Hotel Sherman, where half of the parlor floor has been secured.

The first of a series of executive conferences in the approaching campaign to raise $700,000 for the Republican national campaign fund in Chicago was held yesterday at the Union League club.

Regardless of what may happen to the suffrage amendment, Republican women of Illinois are organizing for the Lamechon, Sept. 15 primaries. Headquarters were opened yesterday by Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns, who has taken over the chairmanship of the women's organization. Today at Hotel La Salle a statewide convention will be held of active Republican women workers. Mrs. Medill McCormick will be one of the speakers.

Dr. Louis C. Sendel, who has filed as a Republican primary candidate for coroner, yesterday withdrew, and in a letter to Coroner Hoffman said that he had done so in Coroner Hoffman's interest.

All sitting judges were seated at the head of the Republican and Democratic tickets when petitions for Municipal Judges court judges were filed with City Clerk James T. Igoe. Candidates of the regular Democratic organization had first place in the Democratic column. Candidates of the city hall and the regular Republican organizations had about an even break in the Republican line-up.

The complete list of filings, in their official order, is shown in the following list.

SPY WHO POSED AS LIEUT. KINCAID FACES 4 CHARGES

Clyne Tells Plans to Try Schude.

Theodore Schude, alias Private Arthur Le Grande, self-confessed German spy, who told fantastic stories of his experiences and ancestry while posing in France as Lieut. Arthur M. Kincaid of the United States army, will face trial on four separate charges, United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne announced last night.

The first was in his imposture of Kincaid in Holland and France. Schude is said to have confessed to San Francisco officials that he was in the employment of the German government at that time. If so, his status in the American military courts in France would be that of a spy captured in time of war. The offense is punishable by death.

The second charge is a similar one and concerns Schude's presence in the United States as Lieut. Kincaid. This also is punishable by death.

The third charge is that of defrauding the federal government of $1,689.89, the amount Schude was paid as Kincaid, by the finance officer at Fort Sheridan hospital on his discharge from the service Dec. 1, 1918.

The fourth charge is his fraudulent enlistment in the army at San Francisco under the name of Arthur Le Grande.

Schude is expected to arrive in Chicago Wednesday, in custody of deputy United States marshals from San Francisco. On his arrival here he will be immediately grilled on his actions of the last two years.

CHATEAUX THIERRY EAGER TO GREET VISITING 'CASEYS'

PARIS, Aug. 16.—Chateaum Thierry, at the request of its mayor, will be the first town in the battlefields region to welcome the Knights of Columbus delegates, here to represent the organization at the dedication, Aug. 21, of the Knights of Columbus Lafayette statue at the bridge.

The delegates will leave tomorrow morning in a body for Chateaum Thierry.

Afterward, Mayor Flament will present Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia with a stone taken from the famous Chateaum Thierry bridge which the American marines defended. Mr. Flaherty will make a gift of the stone to the American Legion.

SHALL 45 WOMEN IN JAIL SMOKE? JAILED STUMPED

In the Cook county jail there are now forty-five women prisoners, and the question Jailer George F. Lee propounds is: Why should we not extend the same smoking privileges to them here as are extended in the clubs, hotels, and cafés of the city?

"Feminine reformers and church workers have deluged me with inquiries recently as to whether I allow women prisoners the cigaret luxury," he explains. "As a matter of fact the question has never been brought officially to my attention. But I see no reason why I should bar a woman from smoking. The male prisoners smoke. And isn't this the day when we preach equality of the sexes?"

"All the reformers appear dead set against the smoking habit. Well, maybe they're right. I'm not saying. But I am convinced of one thing and that is that I have not the right to pass judgment on so weighty a proposition. And, anyway, none of the women prisoners has asked me."

Rumor hath it, however, that Mr. Lee's fair charges daily with Lady Nicotine whenever fancy dictates.

The Transportation Question Every Business Executive Must Answer

ARE you bringing your transportation equipment up to the assured demands of this fall and winter?

The railroad situation is gradually improving, but railroad equipment is admittedly five years behind the business needs of the present.

Good business judgment demands an immediate stock-taking of your present transportation equipment.

Motor trucks are being called upon to handle a constantly increasing share of the country's short haul transportation. They can relieve your business of a large part of the delay and annoyance incident to the railroad situation.

By assuming more of the short haul traffic they can help set free to your advantage the full complement of railroad equipment for long haul and bulk shipments.

Motor trucks will give your business a valuable measure of transportation independence.

THE RUSSIAN LOAN.

Gen. Baron Wrangel is said to have promised to pay, in case of his success, the Russian debt to France. This promise, it is assumed, is the chief consideration for recognition by the French government.

How will the bargain, if this is the bargain, turn out? It is believed that recognition of obligations to the allies was instrumental in the fall of Kerensky, Kolchak, Yudenitch, and Denikine. Can Wrangel afford to make such a pledge? We cannot think the mass of the Russian people will rush to his support because he has promised they will pay the French twenty or thirty billions of francs. And what can French official recognition do for Wrangel if not backed by prompt material aid, guns, ammunition, and supplies at the least? Yet French aid did not save Wrangel's anti-bolshevik predecessors.

We do not dogmatize on Russian policy. The situation is dark. What was folly yesterday may be wisdom tomorrow. But history will have an interesting chapter to write on the French loan to Russia.

Its basis was strategy. France loaned money to Russia in order to procure Russia's aid against Germany. As it is not our money, we can look at the transaction philosophically and from this point of view we should say, the French could afford to console themselves in the prospect of never seeing their francs again by the thought that the real object of the loan was accomplished. It is not fanciful to say that the Russian loan won the battle of the Marne and saved Paris. If Russia had not attacked vigorously on the east, France probably would have been overwhelmed, as the German militarists expected it to be.

But a loan is a loan, and the French peasants and shopkeepers, who were not much concerned with hau politiques, put their savings into Russian bonds as a business, not a military or patriotic proposition. So being as thrifty as a folk as live on the globe, they are set, dead set on getting their money back. For France, for the French, the investment was a good one even if never a franc returns. Nevertheless it is the loan, the world believes, which has dominated French policy toward Russia since the fall of the czar. French statesmen may or may not have seen that the policy thus compelled was costly and dangerous.

As for McKinley's intervention in Cuba, however moral issues colored our feeling, it was rested securely on the basis of our national welfare and the right to be at peace on our frontiers. Furthermore, war would not have been declared if the Maine had not been sunk.

As for Garfield's "prophecy," we beg to call Mr. Cox's attention to the fact that Garfield spoke of "moral" leadership and not of alliances likely to involve us with every imperialist enterprise cherished in the world.

The chief good that can come from the present campaign is to clear the air of the Big Talk and moral buncombe which for eight years have defiled the common sense of the American people and hid in a dazzling gauze of rhetoric the sorry facts of the Wilsonian internationalist policy in Europe, Mexico, and Asia.

from the pot—steamed, not boiled—one's attitude toward life is subject to change. The ordinary physical processes suddenly take on new importance. The business of fueling the human furnace becomes a pleasure. Faces across the table, selected as they are by ears of Golden Bantam corn, take on new significance. They are a product of the corn, full of health, full of strength, full of life, full of possibilities for good, and soon to be full of corn.

Corn we remember, is one great stone in the foundation of our prosperity. Corn is the source of our strength. In the development of corn lies our future. What once was considered only food for cattle has, through man's effort, become food for the most fortunate. It is a sign of our progress. It is a bulwark of our civilization. It strengthens the weak, supports the strong, makes the poor rich and the rich happy.

Golden Bantam, Early Malcolm, Shoepig, Country Gentleman—let us hail them all, symbols of our civilization, happy realities in days of gloom and shadow.

NO TAMMANY IN ILLINOIS.

The city of Chicago has gone broke under the Thompson-Lundin administration. It is deep in debt and going deeper. As a source of political power it is just about squeezed dry.

The state has a cash surplus of $14,000,000 in the treasury for the next administration to begin work on. In addition there are $80,000,000 worth of bonds to be sold.

The Thompson-Lundin organization is seeking to control the state through the election of Small and the rest of the city hall slate. What would happen to the $84,000,000 if the Thompson Tammany should succeed seems too evident to require comment.

And that isn't all. Under Thompson the city tax rate has gone up by leaps and bounds. The city hall has even requested special permission from the legislature to raise it still higher. At the same time the state tax rate under Lowden has dropped 33 per cent. The organization which has spent all the city's money, raised the tax rate, and left it in debt seeks to supplant the state administration which has piled up a surplus and lowered the state tax rate. No bank can cloud such an issue.

MR. COX AND REPUBLICAN STATESMEN.

Gov. Cox's appeal to Republicans in the name of Lincoln's action in the civil war crisis, McKinley's in the war of Cuban independence, and Garfield's prophecy of American moral leadership gets him nowhere.

He says Lincoln "fought a war over the purely moral issue of slavery."

Of course, he did nothing of the sort. Lincoln fought for the preservation of the union, threatened at that time by disintegration, through the state rights doctrine of Mr. Cox's party, just as it is threatened today by the internationalism of Mr. Wilson which Mr. Cox has undertaken to support and continue.

To Lincoln, union, not the "purely moral question of slavery," was the paramount issue, and he said so in unmistakable terms.

As for McKinley's intervention in Cuba, however moral issues colored our feeling, it was rested securely on the basis of our national welfare and the right to be at peace on our frontiers. Furthermore, war would not have been declared if the Maine had not been sunk.

As for Garfield's "prophecy," we beg to call Mr. Cox's attention to the fact that Garfield spoke of "moral" leadership and not of alliances likely to involve us with every imperialist enterprise cherished in the world.

The chief good that can come from the present campaign is to clear the air of the Big Talk and moral buncombe which for eight years have defiled the common sense of the American people and hid in a dazzling gauze of rhetoric the sorry facts of the Wilsonian internationalist policy in Europe, Mexico, and Asia.

Editorial of the Day

THE SENIOR SENATOR FROM THE FINE OLD STATE OF CONNECTICUT.

(From the New York Sun and Herald.)

Frank Brandegee was one of the first Americans to perceive the full significance of the Wilsonian enterprise of surrender and merger. He was one of the earliest in the senate to range himself, resolutely and intelligently, on the side of the issue which has now become the principal issue in American politics. He has been one of the most powerful individuals in the long fight for the conservation of American nationalism. He has never swerved or retreated or buckled or equivocated or pusseyfooted on this question of supreme importance; or, indeed, on any other question to the best of our information and belief. His character is made of stuff that strongly reminds us of the good gray rocks which underlie the more or less fertile soil of his native part of New England, cropping out here and there uncompromisingly and ruggedly and affording splendid material either to build with or to build upon.

We are glad to learn by the reports coming from Connecticut that the prospect of Mr. Brandegee's return to the senate this year is good. His service in nearly twenty years in congress fifteen years as senator, counts him among the legislative veterans. His usefulness is attested by his position on such important committees as the judiciary and foreign relations. Although he is not much of a speechmaker, his influence—perhaps partly because of that circumstance—is extensive and pervasive and widely recognized. It is likewise in the main extremely salutary.

The result of the senatorial contest in Connecticut does not seem likely to depend much upon the personality of the Democratic candidate contesting an election that ought to be a foregone conclusion. Connecticut needs Brandegee in the senate and the country needs him there.

IRON DISCIPLINE OF WORKERS.

The Chicago Federation of Labor adopted resolutions in favor of a general strike if the United States should give military aid to Poland against the soviet government of Russia. The inspiration of the resolutions was the thought that such aid would be an aggression against the workers' government of Russia.

The modus operandi of the workers' government is conscription by dictatorship. The conscription was at first conscription of wealth, but that conscription did not make any wheels go around.

The next conscription was conscription of labor. Mr. Lenin is a realist. He knew that if his government lived, workers had to work and they had to fight. They were conscripted for the factories and mines. They were conscripted for the army. They do not say what hours they shall work. He tells them what hours they shall work. He says which shall work, where and how long, and which shall fight, and the principal asset of the soviets is the iron discipline frequently mentioned by Lenin.

This system would be all right for Mr. Fitzpatrick and Mr. Nockels of the federation if one were chairman and the other secretary of the Chicago soviet, but it might lack points of grace with the workmen which furnish the membership of the federation.

GOLDEN BANTAM DAYS.

A subtle flattery refers us back to an editorial of Aug. 18, 1912, on the subject of Golden Bantam corn, with a request that it be reprinted. We bow to the flattery, but the Golden Bantam corn of 1912 is dust, and we hesitate to disturb its repose, lest we bring tears unbidden to our eyes. The memory is clear and untarnished, and we may safely recall in that, thanking our correspondent for its recall.

This day is at hand when memory will have its rebirth in reality. Today we picture a steaming, gleaming ear of Golden Bantam corn, fresh from the pot, its luster enhanced by a bit of butter, its flavor made piquant by a dash of salt, and—for those who like it—pepper. The very thought tickles the palate. It is more than food. It is an inspiration. It makes us forget the Red terror, the political campaign, the high cost of living, and cling to life and to our daily task for another week, when it may become a reality.

Such realities are rare. When one tastes the season's first ear of Golden Bantam corn, fresh

LITTLE PETERKIN IN MEXICO.
(Corr. from Oliver Madox Hopper.)

The little son of a Zapata leader one day asked his father what they were fighting about. "We are fighting for the land, my son." "When you have finished fighting, father, will the land be ours?" "Yes, my son." "How much land shall we have?" "I, my son, will have about six foot, and you will have about five."

If a man has something of supreme importance to say, the manner of saying it is of slight account. But if, as in the case of Candidate Roosevelt, he has nothing special to communicate, the style of utterance is to be considered. Mr. Roosevelt's style is inelegant. Perhaps it is put on for the occasion. If so, it is a mistake.

ONLY the other day we were discussing crowd psychology with Old George Mallon, and George was reminded of a candidate in New York who thought to make a hit by removing his coat previously to addressing the proletariat; but all he accomplished was to get the epithet "Shirtlessie" hitched to his name. Mr. Roosevelt should keep his coat on.

With times hard and prices high, I can't pay my own debts, so I am not going to worry about hers. You are out of luck if you trust her. I never did. Marvin Z. Pengilly.

"IT is unbelievable the way Americans drink in Cuba," exclaims a Havana innkeeper. But there are many less believable things. No doubt they begin wrong. Occasionally old Ed Howe uncovers a grouch with which we can sympathize. A recent complaint is the overworking of the term "pep." Old Ed defines "pep" as the sort of thing a Y. M. C. ANOTHER MOUTHFUL.

Not by polite conversations with the urbane M. Krasskin and similar suave, blood-smirched "commissioners" did Charles Martel and his northern axemen fling back the hordes of a less destructive fanaticism on a stricken field at Tours.

ACCORDING to the Astronomical Research Bureau, Ireland's troubles were brought about by the solar eclipse of May occurring in the ruling sign of Ireland, and by other starry things. But, as dear Ed was reminded, we have a lot of crust to try to hold the Zodiac responsible for our lack of wit.

WHERE GOLF IS SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY.

Sir: At the Lincoln Park Town and Country Club you pay your quarter and take your choice. If you don't like the looks of the other three you can jump back a notch and wait for a more likely crowd that probably won't average worse than seven, and when waiting you can chin with the starter or the girls in the lounge. One of the girls said, speaking of polo salad at the center of a throw, "You know, we used to feed potato to the dogs, but 'taint so any more, though we do feed a few yet."

NOW and then a sincere compliment is paid to the two standard bearers. Mr. Bryan, for example, finds that neither Harding nor Cox is fanatical about temperature.

HOW AND WHEN TO FAST.
YESTERDAY, the 16th, was a Jewish holiday, "J. H. writes. "I fasted for a whole day and a whole night, not even drinking water. I would like to know whether it is beneficial or harmful. I reduced five pounds."

There is no objection to fasting. In fact, brief fasting spells will benefit most of us who consider ourselves in good health. Many diseases and symptoms of disordered conditions are benefited by brief fasting.

Some writers attribute some of the good health and endurance of the Japanese to their habit of fasting, as a cure for various minor disorders, as well as their habit of occasional fasting when no disorder is present.

The laws of certain religions which prescribe periodic fasting are in accordance with sound physiologic principles.

However, if the fasting is overdone or carried to extremes, it may produce bad results.

TARIFF RETURNS SINCE 1914 SHOW REVISION IS VITAL

Harding Justified in Calling for Change, Claim.

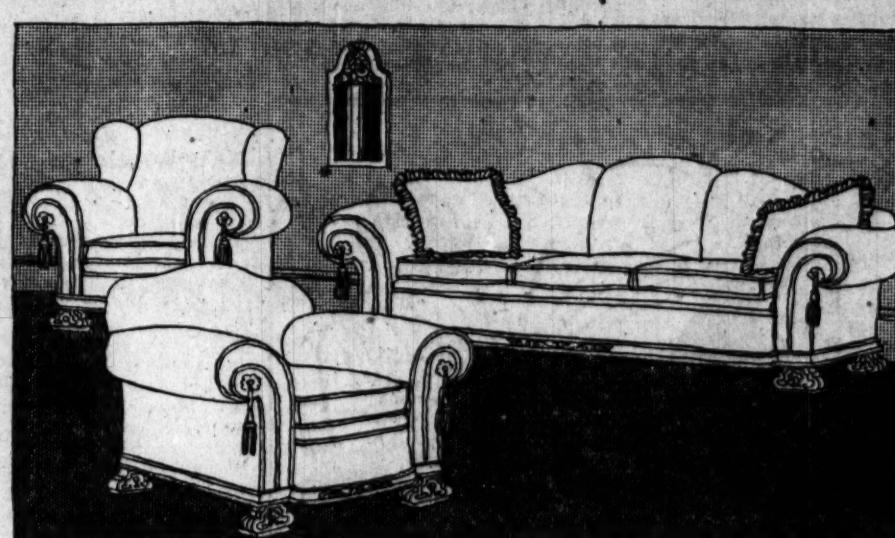

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—(Special)—Ever since Senator Harding declared that if elected president he would call for the "revision of Americanism" of protective tariff policy, there has been a strong undercurrent of tariff reform talk which some Republican leaders are now seeking to force to the surface as one of the lively issues of the campaign.

U.O.C. STUDENTS THREATEN SUITS OVER SHOOTING

Sergt. Norton and Rail Men to Be Targets.

As soon as Albert Robbins and Howard Hurwitz, University of Chicago students, get out of the hospital suits will be filed against Sergt. John Norton, head of the police force at Gary, and the Michigan Central railroad, according to Benjamin B. Morris. Norton will be sued for alleged false arrest, Morris says, and the railroad on charges of assault and battery on the part of its employees.

Robbins was shot by Ward Douglas, a railroad policeman, last Friday night after he and Hurwitz had alighted from a freight train which they boarded in the belief it would take them to Chicago. Hurwitz, Attorney Morris says, is in Michael Reese Hospital suffering from a fractured jaw.

The Lawyer's Version.

"The boys got off the train when they discovered they were traveling in the wrong direction, and started to walk along the track," said Morris. "They saw two men, one armed with a revolver. Thinking the men were robbers, the boys began to run. Douglas shot Robbins."

"Then the policeman and his companion caught Hurwitz and searched him. They found nothing; so they beat him and threw him out."

"Saturday morning Hurwitz was dragged from bed and taken to the rooms of the homicide squad. When I arrived Norton denied me permission to see Hurwitz and wouldn't let me get food, water, or a doctor for him." The lawyer says Sergt. Norton held Hurwitz until it was too late to arrange bail, then turned him over to a railroad detective to take him to the

FLYER RACES FLAMES TO LAND AS SEAPLANE BLAZES IN MIDAIR

Gary, Ind., Aug. 16.—[Special.] Residents of Gary were treated to an exciting scene yesterday when Capt. and Lieut. Applegate and his mechanic had a narrow escape from death last night when their seaplane burst into flames several hundred feet in the air off Gary harbor. The plane shot lakeward like a blazing brand burning from the skis.

Lieut. Applegate succeeded in making a landing on the water just as the wings collapsed from the fire. The lieutenant, owner of the plane, had been making passenger flights during the day at Miller Beach, just east of Gary, and he and his mechanic were on their way back to Chicago when a leaky gasoline pipe set fire to the plane. Both escaped with slight burns.

Kensington police station. Though a copy of the boy's statement was given to a representative of the railroad, Morris was denied one, he said.

Norton Tells His Side.

"I wouldn't let any attorney be present when I was questioning a suspect," said Sergt. Norton last night.

"If Hurwitz had wanted a doctor, or a drink of water, or anything like that, all he had to do was ask for it. Let him sue if he wants to."

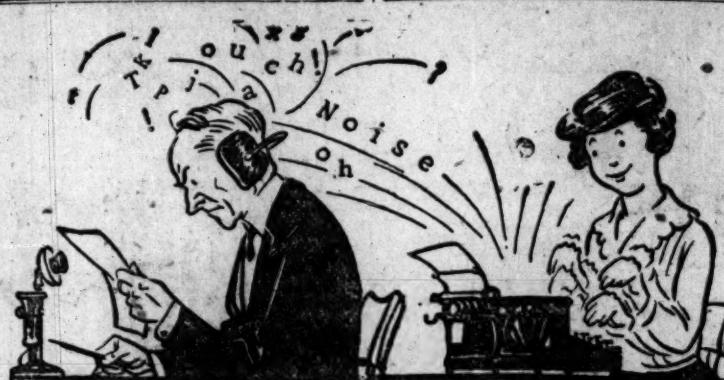

Yesterday the student's case was condemned in the South Chicago police court to permit them to recover from their wounds. They were going to Champigny to see Miss Louise Harris, a friend of Hurwitz, according to their stories. Policeman Douglas asserts he thought they were attempting to steal merchandise from one of the cars.

New York, Aug. 16.—Almira G. Rockefeller, who died last January, left her estate, valued at $3,248,300, to her husband, William Rockefeller. Her will, filed today, showed the estate included $880,712 in cash, $267,783 in jewelry, and the rest in securities.

Miners and Operator Deadlocked Over Wages

Cleveland, O., Aug. 16.—Members of the joint scale committee, central competitive bituminous coal field, were deadlocked tonight after the operators had refused the miners' demand for increased wages, and the miners, in turn, had rejected a counter proposal of the operators.

No—he wasn't cold physically. He wore them because the noise of the typewriters chilled his thinking.

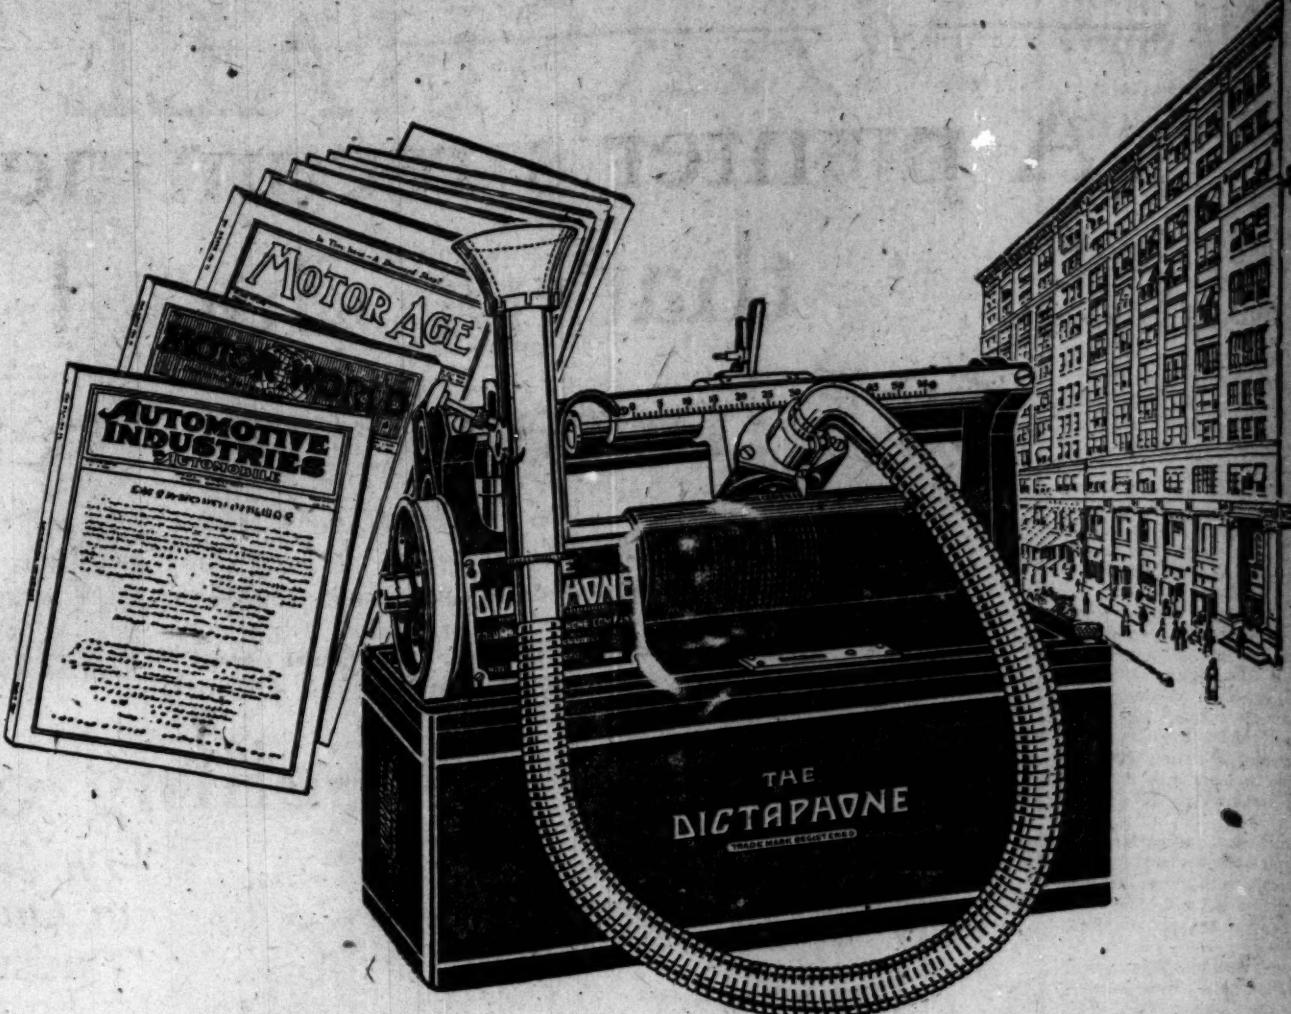

There came a day when he discarded his ear-tabs. Visitors took note, wondered and asked why.

"Don't need them any more," said our ear-tab friend cheerfully. "I woke up one day and installed the Noiseless."

A printer's recommendation that produced a 60% increase in "returns"

RECENTLY a firm with very little money but a good proposition decided to purchase 25,000 mailing pieces.

They had already selected a certain quality of paper for the job. It was not a good quality, but the firm felt it could not afford to spend more.

The Printer, however, was dissatisfied, and he said so.

"Pick 2,000 names from your list," he proposed. "Send your circular to 1,000 on the paper you have selected. Then send the identical folder to the other 1,000 on a better quality of paper."

The proposal seemed fair and the trial was made.

Three weeks later, when the results were tabulated, it was found that the better paper had brought 60% more inquiries than the cheap.

An instance where the right paper was also the cheapest

Although buyers of printing usually err on the side of cheapness rather than on the side of quality, it not infrequently happens that the Printer's experience suggests a paper of lower cost.

A wholesale florist had an over-supply of bulbs which he wished to dispose of. He had an elaborate and expensive catalog prepared and sent to his best prospects.

The results were disappointing. At the end of the season he found nearly the entire supply still on hand.

The following season the Printer suggested that the beautifully illustrated booklet had failed because it had spelled high cost, without good value, to conservative prospective customers.

He suggested sending that year merely a simple folder in black and white.

In almost no time this inexpensive folder sold the entire stock!

Why it pays to have the Printer specify the paper

It is the little elements of appearance and "feel" and ink combination that frequently make all the difference in a letter or booklet between partial failure and real success.

In his selection of the right paper for the job, the Printer to-day is rendering service that means not only better results but in some cases means important savings.

NOTE: In general where the term "Printer" is used in this announcement, it refers not only to the printer who does flat bed and rotary work, but also to the offset printer, the lithographer, the engraver, and the stationer.

Measuring opacity and color of paper

How can you tell if one sheet of paper is more or less transparent than another? The answer is supplied by the instrument, used in the Laboratory of the American Writing Paper Company, which measures accurately the amount of light that passes through a sample of the paper being tested. Scientific research is fast becoming a factor dealing in the paper trade.

THE Printer to-day is responsible to his customer for results. Yet when it comes to the one element that constitutes nearly half the cost of printing—PAPER—the average Printer must often buy largely by appearance and "feel."

He does not know the technical facts because the manufacturers have not always informed him.

If he is the kind of man who turns up a box of strawberries in order to make sure that he has not been deceived by a seductively perfect top layer, he may crumple up a sheet of paper, or tear it. But in the end he must decide in accordance with his eye and his pocket-book.

Paper Standards! Unless the Printer can know in every case exactly the quality and properties of the paper he buys, he cannot be

(1) Economy of cutting. A Printer recently secured an order for 18,500 pamphlets, amounting to $855. The customer expressed a desire to furnish the stock and was about to order 60 reams of a certain size when the Printer called his attention to the use of another size which would allow for wasteless trimming. The order was immediately changed, at a saving of $270.

(2) Economy of systematizing stationery, letterheads and forms. The head of a large business concern in New York was told a few weeks ago that in his office a 50c rag-content bond was being used for memorandum forms and a "cheap" 16c sulphite or wood-pulp bond for letterheads sent to clients. In probably nine out of ten business houses there is a waste of this sort.

(3) Purchasing paper in large quantities for a series of jobs. Buying of this sort, with a proper anticipation of needs for a period of six months or a year, saved the Red Cross thousands of dollars a year during the war, on the cost of paper alone.

Ten years ago the Printer was an order-chaser—today he has a service organization and is contributing constructive ideas to business.

mechanical ones of typesetting, proofreading, and press work.

Under the progressive leadership of the United Typothetae of America and the National Lithographers' Association, Printers and Lithographers are to-day taking a real part in the planning of printed matter—drawing up their own specifications, taking the initiative in every phase of the work.

Do not get four or five competitive bids from as many Printers and give the work to the man with the lowest estimate.

Do not get twenty competitive bids from twenty Printers and give the work to the man with the lowest estimate.

Select your Printer on the basis of service rather than price. Employ him on the same basis as you would a doctor or a lawyer. Give him the facts about your business policies and methods. Furnish him with a basis for constructive criticisms and suggestions, and then maintain a permanent business relationship with him.

Let your Printer co-operate and work with you rather than merely work for you.

Be open-minded to your Printer's advice.

Your Printer is the one best qualified to select the right paper for the particular job. He is in a position to help you effect real economies—improve quality—bring RESULTS.

Scientific research and standardization in the paper industry certain either of its value or that he has the right paper for the job.

$225,000 for the facts about paper

The American Writing Paper Company has taken the lead in furnishing Printers with these facts by expanding its Scientific Research Laboratory at a cost of $225,000.

The main purpose of this Laboratory is to set up standards that shall prevail in every process of manufacture, to inspect raw materials as well as finished product, and to give to the Paper Merchant and the Printer the facts about what they buy.

A second, though no less important purpose of the laboratory is to bring about economies and improve quality.

Take the case of dirty wood-pulp. Dirty paper means poor quality. By examining wood-pulp for dirt, the Laboratory has saved as much as $300 on a carload of this raw material.

Alum. The annual cost of this one item alone has been reduced about $100,000. And of course the less alum needed the better the paper.

The ideas of superintendents, foremen and mill men in the 26 mills give the scientists the starting points of many important discoveries. Then after these ideas have been perfected by the Research Laboratory, the mill men put them to practical test and bring them into successful operation.

One thousand of these mill men have been with the Company for more than 10 years; 500 for more than 20 years; many even longer. These men represent the craft skill in the making of paper that it has taken centuries to perfect.

Neither the scientific nor the practical men are alone sufficient. Their co-operation is ideal.

Through its Research Laboratory, the American Writing Paper Company is throwing light into dark corners—is tearing down the time-worn maxim—"the buyer beware"—by informing the buyers on paper quality and characteristics, and assuming full responsibility for its own product.

The Printer is the creative force in the Printing Industry and should be the one to consult in specifying the grade and finish of paper to be used in any particular work.

It is the policy of the American Writing Paper Company to send its samples to customers through the Printers and Paper Merchants.

Some of the remarkable accomplishments of the American Writing's Research Laboratory will be described in this book by one of the foremost practical scientists in the United States. CITY OFFERS TO COMPROMISE ON "L" VALUATION

Chester E. Cleveland, special assistant corporation counsel in charge of the city's traction litigation, offered to compromise with the elevated lines yesterday on the valuation of the roads' properties, which being made by the public utilities commission. The proposal was rejected.

"Because of the loss of liquor license money," said Mr. Cleveland, addressing the utility commission, "the chief counsel, 'and because of the loss of other revenue and the great increase in the cost of everything, the city of Chicago is without the funds necessary for the conduct of the ordinary business of city government."

Difference of $50,000,000.

"A policy of retrenchment is necessary. Therefore I would like to ask you, Mrs. Porter, if you will accept the valuation of the elevated property fixed by the Parsons commission in 1916 as a fair valuation?"

Heretofore the city has contended that the appropriate value of the elevated properties was $60,000,000, while the "L" lines have contended for a figure in the neighborhood of $110,000,000. The Parsons valuation is $70,400,000.

MR. PORTER—My understanding is that the commission is bound by law to fix the valuation in accordance with what it finds suitable.

MR. CLEVELAND—But in view of the expense and the depleted condition of the city treasury I—

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

7 RAILROADS ASK A WRIT TO HALT TWO-CENT FARES

An injunction to restrain the Illinois public utilities commission, Attorney General Brundage and State's Attorney Hoyne from enforcing the 2 cent intra-state railroad fare was asked in suits filed in the District court yesterday by attorneys representing seven railroads. The 2 cent fare is scheduled to go into effect Sept. 1.

The suits were filed by the Illinois Central, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. Other lines are expected to file suits.

The right of the public utilities commission to lower the rate despite orders of the interstate commerce commission, which fixed it at slightly more than 3 cents a mile, was questioned in the petition.

O. W. Dynes, counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, said:

"The purpose of the suit is to forestall action on the part of the utility commission to restrain the two-cent fare in the future and to insure for ourselves 3 cents per mile for passenger fares, the rate recently fixed by the interstate commerce commission."

Because the suit cannot be acted on by less than three federal judges, F. W. Sargent, attorney for the Northwestern railroad, said last night he would file a petition asking that this number of judges be allowed to take action on the suit. The jurists are now on their summer vacations and unless they return to hear the case before Sept. 1 the 2 cent rate would automatically go into effect that date, he said.

Railroad attorneys said last night that commutation rates would not be immediately affected by the outcome of the hearing, but if it was possible the hearing to be postponed later if the statute was declared invalid.

POLICEMAN GIVES $50 REWARD TO M'GURK'S WIDOW

Detective Sergeant Patrick Mulvihill received a check for $50 from the L. Klein company department store yesterday when he returned from his vacation for his services in discovering the employe whom, they claim, has been stealing merchandise from the store for some time. With the check went the remark that Mulvihill, who was Detective Sergeant Frank J. McGurk's partner, turn the check over to Chief Mooney for McGurk's widow.

Goethals, Wells & Co., Inc.

Engineers / Designers / Constructors
150 Nassau Street, New York

Gen. George W. Goethals, President

GOETHALS, WELLS & COMPANY, Inc., is a subsidiary of George W. Goethals & Company, Inc. It is composed of a group of men with records of achievement in engineering and construction.

Range of Operations: It undertakes the design and management of construction of all classes of engineering and building projects.

Complete Service: Begins at the inception of a project and carries through to the completed structure, creating designs, managing construction, and in certain classes of structures planning production lay-outs, selecting and installing machinery and establishing methods of operation.

Fixed Fee: Goethals, Wells & Company, Inc., works upon a fee, fixed in advance by contract for its complete service. It acts as technical agents for the owner either (a) employing special contractors for each class of work, or (b) organizing a construction force, paid by the owner and directed by Goethals, Wells & Company, Inc., or (c) by combination of these methods. This fee will in the general case be lower than the aggregate of fees otherwise paid for technical services.

Lower Aggregate Cost: The cost of the structure is less because construction is done by the organization responsible for the design, thereby eliminating costly errors and revisions. This advantage is particularly apparent where the lay-out and installation of machinery are involved. In certain classes of structures, the Goethals' plan of operations begins with the study of the production methods to be used, and builds the plant to fit. Expensive changes in buildings or inefficient arrangement of equipment are often made necessary when a plant is designed without expert knowledge of the manufacturing processes.

Time Saved: This method of operation also permits of considerable saving of time. Construction can often be started before all details of the plan are completed. Interruptions due to lack of coordination between designers and contractors are avoided.

An international organization, combining technical and financial resources to solve problems of abounding art and industry throughout the world.

ATHLETES OF U.S. FLASH TO FRONT IN THE OLYMPIC

OLYMPIC STANDING

ANTWERP. Aug. 16.—Following is the standing for the first two days of the Olympic track and field championships:

America	43	Sweden	3
Finland	3	Estonia	3
France	6	Norway	1
Great Britain	5

ANTWERP. Aug. 16.—American athletes jummed into a commanding lead in the track and field championships of the seventh annual Olympic games today due to heavy scoring in the three events which were eliminated through the fins.

The Stars and Stripes were hoisted on the stadium flagpole for the first time when Frank P. Loomis, America, third, C. W. Paddock, America; Morris Kirksey, America, second; Harry Edwards, Great Britain, third; Alphonse Lampert, France, fourth; Loren Murchison, America, sixth, Time, 10.45.

EVERETT PRADEY. Los Angeles captured the 100 meter dash in world's record time. A roar of cheers followed. Three other Yankee racers placed in this event. Late in the day Charles W. Paddock of Los Angeles won the 100 meter dash in time one-fifth of a second slower than the world's record, and again the American flag was hoisted, to resounding cheers from the stadium, which at one time seemed filled to capacity, but again was empty.

As a result of the day's events America leads all nations in the track and field scoring with 42 points.

Finland, which won the pentathlon today, and the javelin throw yesterday, is second with 29 points.

Joe Ray Pulls Tendon.

The Yanks derived their leading points from 17 won in the hurdles, 15 in the 100 meter dash, and 11 in the pentathlon. Six places count in the scoring.

While the Americans were accumulating points in the various events in the day's races, discouragement was afforded by accidents which may deprive the team of one of the best first place prospects. Joe Ray, veteran mile runner of the Illinois A. C., Chicago, strained a tendon in the calf. Walker Smith, the Chicago A. C. hurdler, also strained a thigh muscle.

The accidents occurred in practice running on the uneven ground allotted outside the stadium for the athletes to limber up.

There was a flurry of excitement this afternoon when both America and England gave notice of protest over the 100 meter dash. These protests were later withdrawn after a conference with officials, but the history of the matter remains unsatisfactory.

Athletes Relax.

Just before the pistol was fired for the final heat, the assistant started off Charlie Paddock of America, the sprinter, while his compatriots backed off the line, and others relaxed tension. Harry Edwards, the West Indies Britisher, who placed third, particularly declared he was not ready, and his start supports his contention. Murchison of the United States claimed he, like Edwards, was unprepared to start.

At the tape Edwards was classed third, but this place was claimed by many observers at the finish line for Jack Scholz of the United States, who was declared to have finished fifth by officials, after Edwards and Alphonse, the French-Algerian.

Unfortunately the photograph of the finish does not show the order of the disputed places, and the judges decision accordingly stands.

Finn Is All Around Champ.

Results of the pentathlon are also surrounded by some uncertainty, due to the likelihood of dispute over the eligibility of some contestants whose entries were received late. The winning Finn, E. Lethonen, put up a fine all around performance. Although he did not win any firsts, he tied for first in the sprint and won three seconds in the other four events. The big Finn receives the Olympic statuette.

In the pentathlon, the winner in each event was credited with one point, second place with one-half point, and after the sprint, jump and javelin throw, the original field of nineteen was cut down to twelve, who competed in the discus throw. Then followed an elimination to the best six for the 1,500 meter run.

Dunne Drops Out.

R. J. Dunne of University of Michigan was the fourth American in the pentathlon, replacing L. Ferrine. He got through the discus before being eliminated, scoring 44 points for four events, with seventh in the sprint, ninth in the discus, thirteenth in the javelin, and fifteenth in the broad jump.

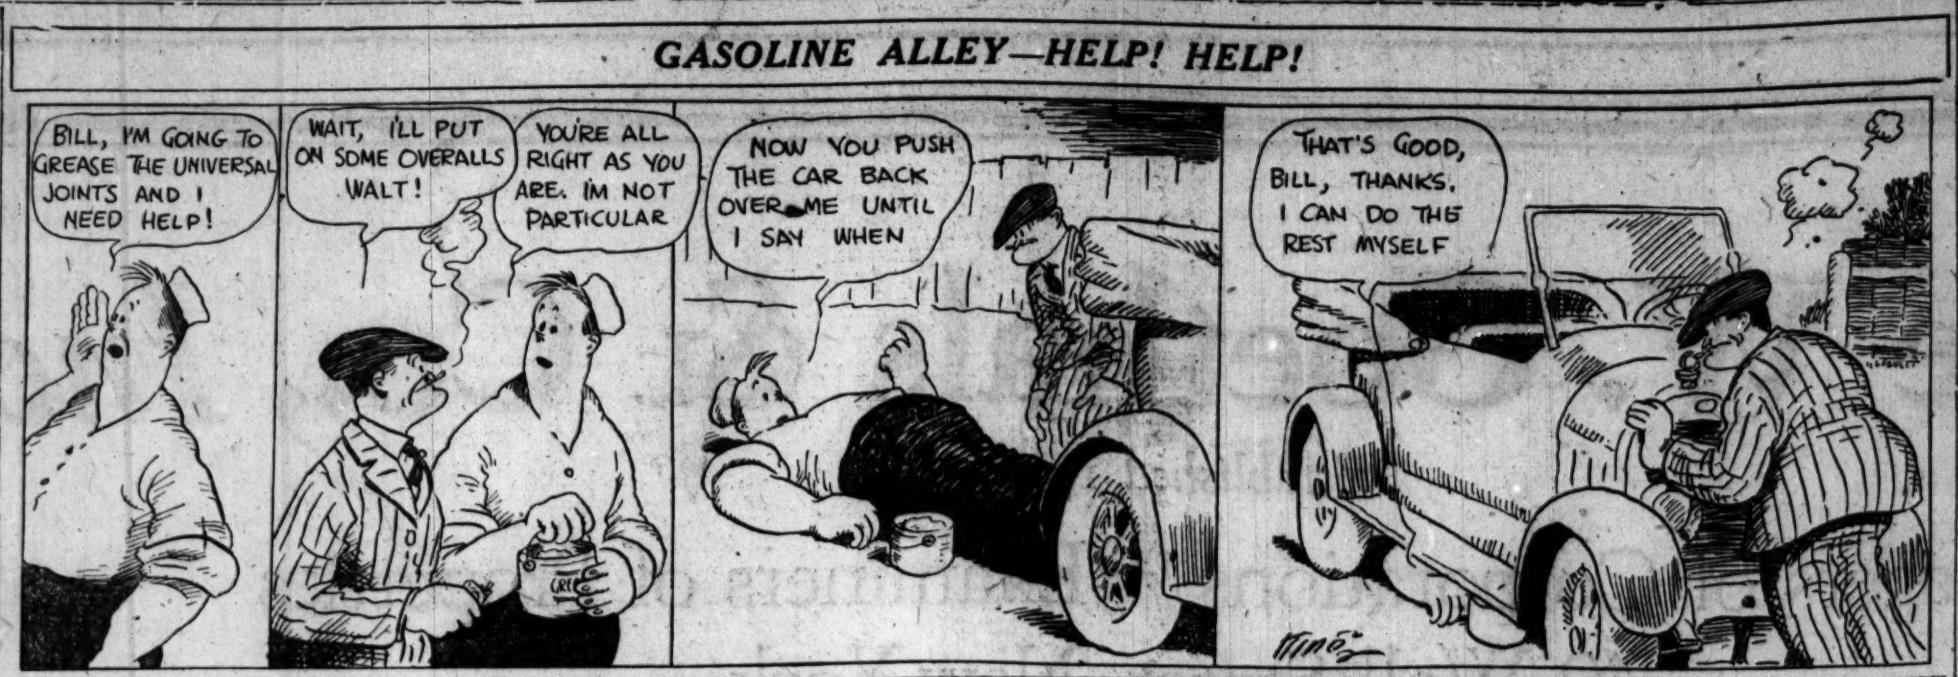

The Americans in the 800 meter run made a much better showing in today's qualifying races for the semifinals than they did in yesterday's preliminaries, although B. G. D. Rudd, the South African Oxford student, looks a probable first in tomorrow's final. Three heats were run today and all four Yankees—Scott, Sprott, Campbell and Qualley, Lieutenant Scott, indeed, won his heat, something none of the Yankees seemed able to do yesterday. Campbell passed three runners in the last half of the second heat, and nearly caught Rudd, who had slowed down.

Loomis Leads All the Way.

In his world record race Loomis jumped to the front in the first strides, took the first hurdle ahead and led all the way, finishing 3 yards ahead of J. K. Norton of San Francisco. August Deesch, the Notre Dame coach, and the veteran French runner, George Andre, by inches for third position. Andre's great fleetness was handicapped by his awkward manner of taking the hurdles.

COACH IS PLEASED

BY JACK MOAKLEY.
(Head coach, American Olympic team.)
ANTWERP. Aug. 16.—This was a great day for America. I felt certain we would win both the 400 meter hurdles and the 100 meter dash, but we had to beat some very fine men. Paddock's victory over Edward was a fine performance. We have great cause for ANTWERP. Aug. 16.—I talked with Joie Ray tonight while Trainer Morris massaged his leg. He says he will be in shape to run the mile, and ought to clean up in other races, if his leg stands the strain. He received his accident practicing on the rough field in the stadium enclosure, and this is dangerous work. The 100 meter mile champion thinks the trick too soft for fast time. He expects his greatest opposition displaying a brilliant game. The hard hitting Californians were forced to four sets to win, and of full confidence.

Coach Moakley Satisfied.

Coach Moakley was pleased with today's events, and looks for a good race from Eby, Scott, and Campbell in the final of the 800 meters. Scott won his heat in this event today, when Mountain of England apparently slowed up under orders. Moakley is counting on Scott in the finals, saying the latter started his sprint too soon today, but coach fears England will be strong.

LOFTIS ESTATE NEAR $1,000,000 NEW VALUATION

Brother, Woman Secre- tary to Manage Property.

The estate of Samuel T. A. Loftis, diamond broker, who died suddenly two weeks ago in his north side apartment under circumstances that remain mysterious, is valued at $1,000,000.

The valuation was made public yesterday when Gordon A. Ramsay, public administrator, resigned as administrator of the estate and Joseph S. Loftis, a brother of the dead man, and

Mrs. J. M. Hessel, a secretary of the diamond brokerage firm, were appointed in his place. Ramsay had been in charge when it was shown Joseph & Loftis is a resident of Chicago. It had previously been thought that he possessed an intelligence more alert than that of other revue manufacturers.

Estimate Stirs Surprise.

Surprise was occasioned when Mr. Ramsay estimated the value of the Loftis estate at $25,000. Attorney Harris F. Williams, who filed the new petition for an administrator, set the approximate value of the personal property at $10,000, but it was authoritatively said the total valuation will approach the million mark. Bonds of $600,000 supplied by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company were furnished by Joseph Loftis and Mrs. Hessel. The latter, who lives at 7714 Eastside terrace, has been employed by the jewelry firm for sixteen years.

Roman Is Recalled.

Attorney Williams said the Loftis' every business will continue under the administrators' management. It is said the major portion of the estate consisted of stock in the concern.

Mr. Shayne, who called the police to the Loftis' home after the death of its owner and Miss Ruth Wood, who had left the apartment a short time before the officers arrived, were recently married. A coroner's investigation showed them from all responsibility for the death.

SKINNAY TICKLED AS TANKS SWOOP ON SOUTH SIDE

The tanks came yesterday to White City—and after the tanks came hundreds of small boys. The armored land cruisers might have run over many magnets.

They were being unloaded by the First Division circus, which is to appear at White City on Thursday. They are to be used in a production of the "Battle of the Tanks."

The boys watched spellbound as the tanks lumbered along. Some clambered aboard for rides. Capt. Harcourt Hervey is in charge of the tanks.

"Lady Bountiful" Finds
Home for Civil War Veteran

Mrs. Katherine Matimore, the aged civil war veteran, has a new home, home undisclosed. "Lady bountiful," who read of her financial plight in Tribune, provided more decent quarters for her with Mrs. Mary Seese at 1811 Van Buren street.

"I want to thank the many persons who have helped me," said Mrs. Matimore. "So many of them sent me presents anonymously and the only way I can thank them all is through the newspapers."

Mrs. Matimore, prevented by paralysis from continuing her old occupation as a seamstress, is the sole support of a crippled son. Both of them are struggling along on a meager pension.

The Tribune yesterday received from C. H. E. Boughton, 7224 Vernon avenue, a check for $10 for Mrs. Matimore. He writes:

"Mother, who is also the widow of a civil war veteran, is sending half the included amount in token of sympathy for the dear old lady who again is fighting her battles against such great odds."

Soldier Writes to Bride: 'Will Drown Self'

James Fortner left his bride of two months last Friday, ostensibly to seek an apartment. He did not return. Yesterday he received a letter, written yesterday, which read:

"Dear Rose: By the time you receive this I shall be in heaven or in hell. But in hell, I guess. I am in Chicago sitting beside the lake. As soon as I write this I am going to tell it, come back to the lake, and drown myself. Love to all. JAMES." Mrs. Fortner, who lives at 9435 Franklin avenue, said her husband remains overseas with the heavy field division of the 23d division. He injured his back handling ordnance and is subject to periods of intense suffering. The lake along the shore of Fortner's body.

Ed. Wynn and His Cleanly "Carnival"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

E. WYNN'S "Carnival," though lacking the qualities of smut and vulgarity so pleasing in other musical numbers, managed last night at the Illinois to draw a large convention by its humor and its cleverness. One recalls with astonishment no particularly blowzy joke in its contents; and the ladies of the chorus were permitted to sing and to dance without the customary accompaniment of bare shanks and knee-caps.

Let this dubious encumbrance keep the debonair away, it should be said that there is in the "Carnival" one incident in which the curiosity of the bobbed-hair set may be assuaged. During the rendering of "The Head," entitled "My Log Fire Girl," the a stodgy baritone, a shapely New Yorker appears, clad in little more than an eye-line. The disclosure thrills the optic nerve without reviving the moral sensibilities, and it is a dash of lavender in an otherwise prudent exhibition. The lewdest joke in the piece occurred when Mr. Wynn was burlesquing a vaudeville juggler, something light, he said to the orchestra. "Something in a jugular vein."

Still, there was another wheeze that reached the rim of obscenity. Mr. Wynn was describing some one or other who, he said, had "a look like a typewriter." "Underwood," he added, to the accompaniment of loud laughter by the more shameless members of the audience. Thus you will see that Mr. Wynn, who wrote the music, the verse, and the jokes of the "Carnival," presumes that his patrons possess an intelligence more alert than that of other revue manufacturers.

Mr. Wynn's "Carnival" is the offspring of the actors' rebellion of last summer. He was the most rabid of the rebels, and in a flaming speech to the American Federation of Labor in Syracuse, N. Y., he announced that he could put many managers in jail. Whereupon the producers grew indignant or fearful, as the case might be.

Mr. Wynn became an outcast, having no employment. J. J. Shubert cut him, and George C. Scott refused to shake his stretched-hand. He was snuffed at by Morris Gest and pooh-poohed by Brady. Nothing dismayed, he wrote his own play, composed his own music, cast himself as his own star, mortgaged his summer place on Long Island, and came forth. And his show was so good that Mr. Erlanger, after he had seen it in the suburbs, had to put it in his pet theater, the New Amsterdam, in New York.

Denies Being Doped Child.

Mrs. Goodhue denied last night she "ever had held Catherine as surely for the $200," and said she had letters from Mrs. Walters attesting that the child was committed to her custody voluntarily.

HIGH RENT FOES OFF TO CAPITAL TO ASK RELIEF

Armed with a petition signed by 5,000 tenants and with the drafts of five bills designed to unhouse profligate landlords, a delegation of city officials and representatives of tenants' associations left last midnight for Springfield. "We have the evidence to show that a special session of the legislature is the tenants' only hope," said Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy, who led the delegation. "We have copies of the bills we wish passed. I am sure Gov. Lowden will be persuaded to issue the call for a special session.

In the party were Ald. Mulcahy, Max Adamowski, James Dorney, Timothy A. Hogan, and Scott Hogan—a special committee appointed by Mayor Thompson at the request of the city council; a committee from the Rogers Park Tenants' association, headed by its president, R. J. Patterson; a committee from the Wilson Avenue Tenants' association, and by its secretary-treasurer, A. E. Jeurek, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Morton S. Cressy.

Before their departure members of the delegation addressed a joint meeting of the two north side tenants' associations, at which drafts of the proposed legislation were read and approved.

HOYNE PUTS HIS MICROSCOPE ON IGOE'S PETITION

Twenty-five witnesses were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane last night in connection with an inquiry being made to uncover alleged fraud in the petition of Michael Igoe, who is running for the Democratic nomination for state attorney in opposition to State's Attorney Hoyne. A number of men who witnessed the signing of a large petition of names on Mr. Igoe's petition were called to the state attorney's office, where they were questioned as to the signatures. The name of the man who made an allegation of fraud to Mr. Igoe could not be learned.

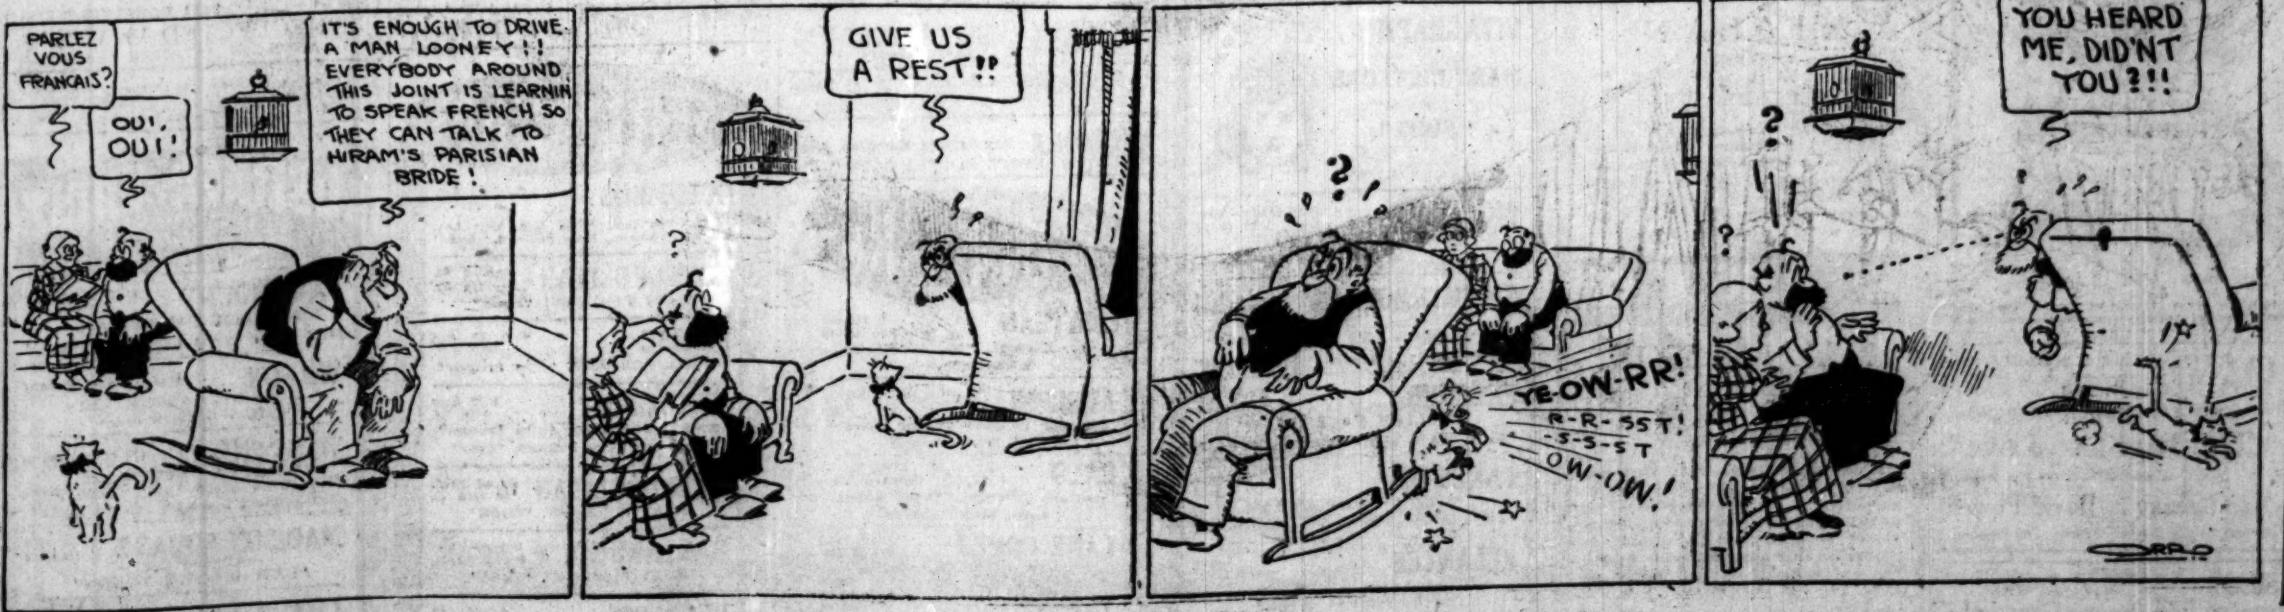

Women's Press Secretary Denies Fisher's Charges

Denial of charges made by Fred Fisher, president of the Women's Press and the Press Publishing company, defunct corporations in the hands of Jacob Goldman as receiver, concerning his handling of the books was made by Patrick Henry before Michael Chancery Doyle yesterday. Fisher testified the last he saw of the books they were in charge of Henry as secretary. Henry testified he had not had the books.

THIRD "MAMMA" FILES CLAIM FOR HOSTAGE BABY

Grandmother Now Seeks Walters Girl.

Two year old Catherine Walters' dilemma is embarrassing. Originally she had one regular mamma. Then she gained one by adoption. And now another claimant has bobbed up.

It started six months ago when Clara Kroll Walters, deserted by her husband, went to room with Maud Goodhue at 4247 Kenmore avenue. Jewelry valued at $200 was missed by Mrs. Goodhue. She accused Mrs. Walters and, according to the latter, annexed the baby. She said she would keep the child until Mrs. Walters made restitution.

Duped, Says Mother.

Yesterday she fled a petition in the court asking that the consent be annulled. Her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Kroll of 2150 Kimball avenue, said she was duped, she alleges, into signing a document consenting to Mrs. Goodhue's adoption of the baby.

LANDLORD DINES WIDOW TENANT; WOE IS DESSERT

Seized as Woman in Cafe Loses Purse.

Farmer Joseph Snyder came to town yesterday, as is his monthly custom. Mr. Snyder, who is 72 and of patriarchal mien, owns a half section near Maple Grove valued at $200 an acre and half a dozen apartment buildings in Chicago. Agents collect the rents, but Mr. Snyder is conscientious about the welfare of his tenants and visits with them periodically.

Yesterday he visited with Mrs. Lela Bachelor, a comely widow living at 2206 Fulton street. They went to a loop department store for lunch. Opposite them was a solitary woman dining.

Find Purse in Pocket.

The kindly landlord and the tenant finished their repast and were departing when she returned—accompanied by a woman detective and three stalwart police.

The woman detective overtook Mr. Snyder, "searched in his coat pocket, and extracted a purse, it is charged.

"It's mine," cried the late dinner, whose name is Mrs. Mary Duggan, address not obtained, the police say.

"What are you doing with it?" queried the woman detective.

"That's my affair," Mr. Snyder is quoted as saying.

Charged with Larceny.

"You're under arrest," the stalwarts informed him, and he and Mrs. Bachelor were escorted to a detective bureau, where he was charged with larceny.

Mr. Bachelor was held without being booked. The purse contained $100 in currency and a check for $15.

"I was going to turn it over to the cashier on my way out," explained Mr. Bachelor.

They obtained their release on bond last night.

Confides That He Has $420; Beaten and Robbed

George Howard, 66 years old, engineer in a building at 111 West Jackson, was beaten and confined yesterday to the elevator man, Michael Galvin, that he had $420 in his possession. Late in the evening two men entered Howard's domain, beat him, fractured his rib, and caused three scalp wounds, and took the money. Howard lives at 5426 Monroe street. Galvin, 59 years old, 3303 South Racine avenue, was placed under arrest. He denied any complicity in the robbery.

ARMY SAYS DO NOT BUY Gold and Blue Stars' Book

Do not purchase books entitled "Gold and Blue Stars," or "The A. E. F. in France Fund Book." Two men are selling them, but they say the money received will benefit wounded soldiers and help to advance the soldiers' "six months' pay bill." The sale of these books has not been authorized, according to military authorities at Fort Sheridan.

Lieut. Michael Golden of the Maxwell street station learned late yesterday afternoon that even a police station is not safe from the lawless and unscrupulous. He hung up his coat-hat, and his revolver while he washed his hands and face. A few minutes later he found his revolver had been stolen.

NEW BLACKMAIL PLOT FOILED AS MAN IS TRAPPED

Pair Confess Planning Coleman Extortion.

A second blackmailing plot, it was learned yesterday, was frustrated by the police Sunday night at nearly the same time detectives were rounding up Sam Nutcha and Mrs. Ella Wesley, colored, who attempted to extort $2,000 from Mrs. Edward J. Cole, widow of the slain color leader, under threats of death.

The second intended victim was Mrs. Bertha Brunner of 2963 Indiana avenue. Will Nutcha, a Negro, was wounded and captured by detectives from the Cottage Grove avenue station while attempting to make off with a decoy package placed on a mail box at Twenty-ninth and Madison streets.

Suspect Same Band.

Last night, following confessions made by Nutcha and Mrs. Wesley, the police and federal officials began in investigation on the theory the same gang of blackmailers was behind both cases.

Mrs. Wesley and Nutcha confessed to Detective Sergeant Chris Slover, head of the bureau, that they had attempted to blackmail Mrs. Cole, but each accused the other of having conceived the plan.

Mrs. Wesley, who operates a rooming house at 1806 Federal street, where Nutcha lives, admitted she had written the four letters received by Mrs. Cole, but said it was at the direction of Nutcha.

Mrs. Wesley formerly was a maid and washwoman in the Colemen home.

Nip Second Plot.

While the police were watching the Coleman decoy package, another squad headed by Detective Sergeant Horace Neilsen was holding similar vigil over Mrs. Cole. On Twenty-ninth and State streets, watching for the blackmailers of Mrs. Brunner.

Mrs. Brunner, who is more than 60, last Thursday received a letter demanding $500 on threat of blowing up her home and killing her.

CIRCUS PEOPLE TO PERFORM AT CRIPPLES' HOME

"Gee, I wish it was morning again," said Mrs. Brunner.

That was the wish of every one of the eighty-five little inmates of the Home for Destitute Crippled Children last night. There was little sleep at the institution. All was expectancy. For 10:15 o'clock this morning, a group of elephants from the Ringling Brothers' circus are going to pay their visit to the home at 1853 Park avenue.

There on the lawn will be given a private performance for the benefit of the little cripples who cannot even leave their wheel chairs to visit the tent on the lake front. There will be clowns and peanuts and pink lemonade and everything, including the circus band.

Motor Squad to Grab Short Weight Ice Men

"If the public will cooperate by reporting every case of short weight ice to me we can run grafting ice dealers out of Chicago in two weeks," City Lawyer Morris Eller declared yesterday. "If the complaint is phoned to me my motorcycle inspectors will reach the neighborhood before the offenders can escape." Mr. Eller's request followed testimony of four of his inspectors before Judge Moran, resulting in fines of $25 and costs against four ice dealers.

"The Roundup" leaves me cold. Mr. Arbuckle, who should be both funny and pathetic as the shrewd sheriff, cumbered his love of a lead, fat, is neither. The custard pie brand is upon him. Sloppy slapstick has marked him for its own. It is his forte—the only thing he knows how to do. He is no more like the famous old of the beloved stage success than he is like a cucumber. A clown, Fatty Arbuckle—not an actor.

Whom I consider another serious drawback to the picture is Irving Cummings. He can spoil almost anything for a number of people, of whom I am one. As the noble and wronged lover one is supposed to pity him. His sufferings at the hands of the sheriff are too real to move the heart. It is out of all reason, of course, that the sympathies of the audience should be with the persecutors. There, I admit, mine were. And they took a Dickens of a time getting rid of him, too!

From the standpoint of production it may be that the picture is well done. Tom Norman, Miss Scott, and Wallace Avery, in support of the objectionables, featured, are capable actors. The scenery is fine. But—

To make "The Roundup" the kind of success the backers undoubtedly hoped it would be, the photoplay should be something more than a comedy pie.

The standup of production is well done. Tom Norman, Miss Scott, and Wallace Avery, in support of the objectionables, featured, are capable actors.

Max went with his mother to visit his aunt. His cousin, who owned a lamb, brought it into the house for Max's entertainment. The lamb straightway proceeded to butt over the door. I told him to stop, but he carried me out of my course, the lamb dipped water with every roller, and I was soaked and terrified. When I reached the opposite side I decided that I would never go back until something more substantial should come along and pick me up.

An hour later one of the finest speed boats on the lake docked at the hotel. I took the boat to the hotel.

On the return trip I entertained him with a gay line of chatter, and as we came near the hotel I noticed that there were very few guests out, and asked him if he would mind going on a little further, coming back when there was more of an audience to appreciate my impressive home coming. When I finally did get out of his boat I offered him the 40 cents which is the usual charge for hired boat service on the lake. The most embarrassing moment of my life came when the guests excitedly informed me that I had been riding with one of the most important political figures of the day, who has a summer estate nearby.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

May Be Shy.

"Dear Miss Blake: Do you think a girl would feel an introduction if she liked a man? It took some effort to arrange the introduction, and then I was turned down by her refusal. But after she told some one she liked me, I have an idea she is joking, but confess I do not understand women. She came like a ray of sunshine into my life, but without an introduction what can a mere man do?" W. W.

I don't understand them either. W. But then even Solomon, with all his wisdom, never bragged about understanding them. The girl in your case may have got a spic of bashfulness in the last mile. Your best plan would be to urge the master of the house. Then she may maneuver the introduction herself. It will prove a test, anyway, which I should await if I were you.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth declined to be interviewed yesterday.

I was not interviewed. It looks like a good Republican year. I am not in the city in connection with the campaign and therefore, cannot talk. If my husband were here, you could ask him. I have never permitted myself to be interviewed, and I cannot now deviate from the practice.

"Yes, it's quite a joke. Because it seems some think I'm here on a political mission. I'm not. I'm here to visit Mrs. Medill McCormick."

And then she posed for a picture.

Bagine, Columbia University, and other noted American educators.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.] Harold S. Vanderbilt has taken Mrs. John Caswell's home, Round Plain, at Beverly Farms, Mass., which he plans to occupy until October 15. Mrs. Caswell and her daughter will start today for Bar Harbor to remain until September 5.

Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentiss will return to her home in Williamsonstown, Mass., tomorrow after having visited her father, John D. Rockefeller, at Pocantico Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson have arrived by motor at Saratoga Springs, and are spending a short time with Richard T. Wilson, Jr.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondent.)—We might almost call these "American beauties" as the knick-knack has there been put in this part of the bathing-costume of the summer of 1920. Here, for example, the individuality of this surf suit is largely dependent upon the original treatment of the nether garments. These are of black taffeta, trimmed with a wide green band, and the upper part of the costume just reverses the system. For it is of green taffeta trimmed with a band of black and further accented by the perky bows on the shoulders. The cap carries out the same color scheme.

OBITUARY.

Arthur Patriarche Is Dead; Was Drainage Canal's Foe

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—Arthur Patriarche, former vice president of the Pere Marquette railroad, died here today, after three days' illness. He was 71. Mr. Patriarche was one of the leaders of the opposition to the Chicago drainage canal project, advancing the theory that it would drain the warm waters from the surface of the lakes, thus causing a climatic change that would seriously damage Michigan fruit crops.

MUCH IN NEED.

I am a young woman about to become a mother. My husband is ill and not working. Could any one please help me to secure some baby clothes, as I haven't anything ready yet. I will gladly call for them.

Mrs. S.

If any reader can comply with this request I am sure she will do so soon, as the need is imminent.

POINTER ON BAKING POWDER

Baking Powder is the pivot on which baking results swing to success or failure.

The many reasons why Rumford never spoils a baking are of less moment to the housewife than is the fact that, in using it, she is sure of light, moist, tasty, wholesome foods, delightful to the eye and easy to digest.

Absolute purity, uniform leavening strength and actual economy in price and practice are Rumford truths well-known to hosts of good cooks for more than twenty-five years.

Plan Motor Reorganization.

A reorganization and recapitalization of the merged Maxwell and Chalmers motor companies has been agreed on by the banking interests which have agreed to finance the companies. The plan is to drop the merger plan.

The reorganization it is the intention of the banking group to obtain in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 new which will be ample to care for indebtedness and provide additional working capital.

The bankers have named three subcommittees as follows: Stockholders' committee, Harry Bronner, chairman; meeting creditors' committee, B. F.
Fleming, chairman; banking committee,
W. D. Dawson, chairman. These committees will work under the management of a reorganization committee, of which Walter P. Chrysler is chairman, Van Vechten, vice president of the Financial and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, is on both the banking and management committees.

8. To Sell Employee Stocks.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is understood to be formulating plans the subdivision of its common shares into preferred stock. The purpose of the purchase is to give the employees an opportunity to purchase stock. This policy is in line with that adopted by its subsidiary,
the Imperial Oil company of Canada.
It also reduced its stock from $100 to $25 per share and gave employees and stockholders the right to buy stock. This employee ownership of stock appears to be a distinct feature of Standard Oil's pre-policy toward labor.

The effect of such a change would be to raise the price for the stock at all where, it is believed, there would be increase in public good will toward operation, as it would allow of a more widespread distribution of the shares.

Recapitalization Plans.

As the result of its recapitalization
stockholders of the Manhattan Metal Supply company will exchange its common stock for new capital company stock, with a recent stock dividend: two-thirds of each share of new capital stock will be given each share of first preferred stock and 12,900 new shares will be provided to provide additional working capital. This will make 70,000 shares outstanding out of a total authorization of 100,000 shares.

The recapitalization plan of the Canada Copper corporation provides for recapitalization of 2,000,000 shares, either by exchange of stock or by issue of new stock. The new stock would take 1,088,200 shares, and 822,223 shares would be set aside for conversion of the first mortgage notes and the remaining 78,457 shares will be the treasury for future financial needs.

Washable Frocks and Separate Skirts For Women and Misses

Final clearances bring some of the most extensive reductions of the year, and yet these washable frocks and separate skirts may be worn for some time still this season.

Frocks of Gingham and Voile, Now $5, $7.50, $10

The styles are simple and smart. Included are frocks of white and light colored voiles, plain navy blue and figured voiles, checked and plaid ginghams. Noteworthy, too, are the trimming details.

Fourth Floor, South.

Separate Skirts of Baronet Satin, Now $7.50

Patterned in a variety of designs, and of a heavy quality, these Baronet satin skirts are desirable for immediate wear. The colors are soft and lovely rose, gray, light and turquoise blue. The two pockets and belt are trimmed with large pearl buttons.

Separate Skirts of Washable Fabrics, Now Reduced to $3.95 and $6.50

The fine quality of the cotton tricotine and the cotton gabardine is a feature—and, expertly tailored, these skirts will retain their smart lines after many tubbings. Sizes for women and misses.

Cotton Gabardine Skirts Specially Priced, $3.95.
Cotton Gabardine or Tricotine Skirts at $6.50.

Fourth Floor, East.

Girls' Frocks Greatly Reduced to $10

Light-colored frocks of organdy, tissie gingham, fine voile and lawn. Frocks with bits of hand-embroidery, hand-smocking, and a charming use of dainty ribbon. A few frocks of Georgette crepe and chiffon, white and pastel-tinted, are included. This is an unusual collection of frocks at such a moderate pricing. Now $10 each.

Fourth Floor, East.

In the moderately-priced-frock shop:

Women's & misses' autumn frocks —advance show and sale

Frocks with the charm of novelty, authentically fashioned, in the autumn silhouette and with delightful trimming touches—many styles adapted "for now"—at an extremely moderate introductory price: 37.50.

Frocks of satin, 37.50 or French serge georgette crepe, autumn styles.

The three frocks sketched above typify the grace and charm of a satisfyingly large collection. The frock at the right is of fine French serge and is decidedly smart.

The center frock is of satin, enchanting in mode and material.

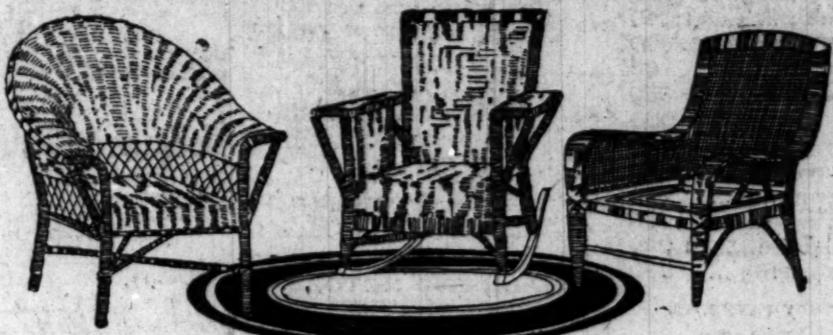

The softness and sheen of the satin is particularly appealing.

The georgette frock at the left is one of the most pleasing of many advanced-style dresses in the moderately-priced-frock shop.
